SETS NEW WOMEN'S MARK

Whether the final checkup shows Louise Thaden (right), former California aviatrix, won the Bendix Trophy race, she set a new transcontinental speed record for women flyers, making the flight across country to the Los Angeles National Air Races in 14 hours, 54 minutes, 49 seconds. With her is her flying companion, Blanche Noyes.

Political Liberals To Hold Closed Conferences

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Fifty or more liberal leaders of all political parties will confer here tomorrow in closed session to decide their course in the presidential campaign.

FRENCH METAL WORKERS OUT

PARIS, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Metal workers at Douai went on strike today, bringing the national total of workers now demanding concessions from their employers to around 70,000.

Partly influenced by political dissension over the government's policy toward the Spanish leftists and partly by their own working conditions, workers in many parts of the country were making new demands. In some cases they have taken over factories and refuse to leave.

Thirty thousand textile workers in the Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing districts quit work and are occupying factories, following a dispute with employers over specific application of labor agreements that settled their recent strike.

Numerous strikes have been reported.

VOTERS IN GEORGIA SUPPORT NEW DEAL

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 10.—(UP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge and his political organization, the last citadel of anti-New Deal sentiment in the old south, sustained a crushing defeat in yesterday's Democratic primary, incomplete returns indicated today.

Talmadge, seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination, trailed the incumbent, Richard B. Russell, Jr., by a little more than one to two. His candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, Charles D. Redwine, had one vote for each one and one-half votes for his opponent, Ed. D. Rivers.

In both contests, the issues were sharply drawn on the New Deal, Talmadge and Redwine abominating it as a whole; Russell and Rivers supporting it in all particulars.

Herbert A. Payne Injured In Fall

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—(UP)—County Auditor Herbert A. Payne was near one of his hands today with his back fractured in a fall from a cabin roof.

The accident occurred at Forest Home near Redlands yesterday while Payne was installing a radio aerial. Surgeons said he suffered a compressed fracture of the first lumbar vertebra. His back was encased in a plaster cast.

Payne is one of the leading Los Angeles county political figures.

Murder Reveals 'Perfect Crime Ring'

HINDU CULT BLAMED FOR 35 KILLINGS

Fresno Authorities Claim Slain Man's Name on Group's 'Death List'

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 10.—(UP)—With his skull crushed and a leg broken, Arjan Singh, 55, Hindu ranch worker, was found dead in a ranch house near here today under circumstances that caused authorities to investigate whether he might have been slain by California's "perfect crime ring"—a Hindu patriotism cult held responsible for 35 prior Hindu killings throughout the state.

Under Sheriff Jack Tarr, said Singh's name appears on a "death list" held by the Fresno county district attorney's office.

Indar Singh, fellow worker of Arjan Singh, was taken into custody by Tarr and held on suspicion in Fresno county jail. Tarr said Indar admitted attacking Arjan but pleaded self defense.

Arjan's skull was broken, apparently from blows from an iron pipe found nearby.

"Marked Man"
Tarr and other authorities here said they believed Arjan was a "marked man" and had been designated for death by the weird Hindu cult, which, state officials believe, already has claimed 35 victims.

Since 1925, when Hindu killings began occurring concurrently with the appearance of large numbers of East Indians in the San Joaquin valley and Sacramento Valley agricultural regions, county, state and federal authorities have been baffled by crimes which led them

HOLD TRIO IN LUST-SLAYING

SAN JOSE, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Police announced two men giving the names of Avery E. Keeler, 50, and Emmett Tow, 43, were arrested here today for investigation in connection with the sex-slaying of Ruth Muir, 48, secretary of the Young Women's Christian association in Riverside, who was murdered at La Jolla last week.

Sheriff George Lyle said it was reported the men "knew more about the case than was carried in the newspapers."

The men, partners, had been working as laborers on a construction job in Willow Glen near here. Other workers on the project summoned the sheriff and said, Lyle reported, they were suspicious of the case because of certain remarks he was said to have made about the case.

Both men, however, denied any connection with the case. Tow asserted he knew nothing concerning the case except what he had read and Keeler, though admitting he had been in San Diego, near the scene of the murder, said that he left there two months ago.

The red-haired Romeo barber was convicted of drowning his young blonde bride after first falling to kill her with the bite of a rattlesnake.

James paled slightly but maintained a stony, impassive countenance as he heard Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke doom him to the gallows at San Quentin prison.

His lawyers, as a last hope, entered a motion for a new trial on grounds the prosecution prejudiced the jury by exhibiting live rattlesnakes in court. The motion was denied.

HIT-RUN DRIVER IS HELD: VICTIM DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Police today held Jess A. Ross and Louise Ede, 27, in the hit-run automobile death of a still unidentified man, found on a downtown street corner yesterday.

Ross was arrested when his partially smashed, blood-stained car fled officers to his home. He denied knowledge of the accident, declaring he and Miss Ede had been drinking heavily and could remember nothing after leaving a beer tavern.

Ross was held on charges of drunken and hit-run driving and negligent homicide, while his companion was held in $100 bail for investigation as a vagrant.

NAZI FLYING BOAT HEADS FOR AMERICA

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The German flying boat Zephyr was making slightly less than 100 miles an hour westward over the Atlantic from the Azores to New York today, its crew reported by radio to the Pan American wireless station at Port Washington, N. Y.

Maintaining the same speed, the 19-ton craft, a trail blazer of a proposed commercial ocean service, would reach Port Washington, New York suburb, at approximately 7 o'clock (EDT) tonight. It left Horta, in the Azores, at 8:10 p. m. (EDT) last night.

Vessel Will Sail Under Pact By Seamen, Owners

SUCCESS

Funeral services for E. S. Gilbert, pioneer Santa Ana merchant, will be held Friday at 2 p. m.

S. A. MERCHANT ENDS OWN LIFE

BEDRIDDEN for the past year and a half, suffering from heart trouble and other ailments, E. S. Gilbert, prominent Santa Ana pioneer and dry goods merchant here for 21 years, was found dead in his bed yesterday afternoon. He was the suicide victim of a .32 caliber bullet which entered his head, official records show. No inquest will be conducted.

Funeral arrangements were made today. Mr. Gilbert was 70.

After 21 years of being in the dry goods business here, and after an active career in community service, Mr. Gilbert sold his business enterprise at 110 West Fourth street, to W. G. Neely of Orange in January of 1923, and retired from active business. He had established

REARDON TO ACT AS STRIKE CONCILIATOR

SALINAS, Cal., Sept. 10.—(UP)—Timothy Reardon, state director of industrial relations, was to arrive in Salinas today in the role of mediator in the Salinas-Watsonville lettuce pickers strike which yesterday broke into violence with the beating of a grower and his two sons.

The attackers assertedly were strike pickets.

The grower, E. M. Brashford, 45, and his sons, were driving trucks when they were stopped at Chualar Bridge, ten miles south of Salinas.

Their attackers dragged them from the trucks, beat them and escaped before sheriff's deputies arrived. Later deputies escorted the trucks south.

Meanwhile, the growers and shippers association took over two sheds and were erecting high wire fences around them tonight preparatory to shipping the fall crop in defiance of the strikers.

Members of the fruit and vegetable workers' union called the strike Monday when the association refused to grant them a closed shop.

COMMUNIST RING IN ROME IS BROKEN UP

ROME, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The government was said today to have discovered and smashed a large Communist organization with headquarters in Rome and branches in Leghorn, Grosseto and other Tuscan towns.

Some of the Communist ring-leaders were understood to have held high official posts in the Fascist party. All were reported to have been arrested and confined in the Regina Coeli jail in Rome.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The Dollar liner President Hoover sailed for the Orient at 12:45 p. m. today with 154 cheering passengers lining the rail, following an early-morning compromise which ended a five-day tie-up and threats of another serious waterfront strike.

Sailing time of the Dollar liner President Hoover was postponed again today until noon, to allow time for the signing on of a new crew, loading of additional coal and other matters caused by the five-day delay, due to a labor dispute.

Originally set to sail at 9 a. m., following a compromise agreement reached early this morning, officials explained that the postponement was not caused by further labor trouble but merely by the fact that sufficient time had not been allowed to get the vessel ready for departure.

Conciliation in the costly controversy was reached shortly before 3 a. m. in a conference among line officials, E. H. Fitzgerald, federal mediator, and Lundberg.

Agree To Hearing

The settlement stipulated that the U. S. government and Fitzgerald conduct an immediate hearing on the case of Charles Brenner, seaman, whose discharge caused the liner's deck crew to refuse to resign ship's articles for the forthcoming official cruise.

The agreement also provides that the employers agree to resume negotiations with the sailors union toward a new working contract. In

Weather Conditions Ideal to Speed Picking, Say Association Chiefs

WITH SIX RANCHES in the Santa Ana district already employing walnut pickers, harvesting of the 1936 walnut crop was expected to begin in earnest Saturday or early next week, it was revealed today as at least eight walnut packing houses planned their opening for the season.

Weather of the past week has been ideal for the crop, according to Manager Arthur E. Conner of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, and walnuts are falling from the trees rapidly. If the weather continues warm, the harvesting will be in full swing within two or three days, he said.

Expected Light Crop

The crop this year will be but 50 or 60 per cent of last year's crop, packing house officials pointed out, last year's crop reported as being about 4200 or 4300 tons.

The local packing house, Conner declared, expects to handle about 700 tons of walnuts this year. Prices of the crop will not be fixed, probably, until sometime next month. Last year's prices were 16 cents per pound for buds and 14 cents for seedlings, generally.

RADIO PRIEST CONTINUES ANTI-ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN

DETROIT, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Father Charles E. Coughlin, despite renewed intimations from the Vatican that he had been censured for political activities, was well launched today on a speaking campaign in support of the third party candidacy of William Lemke.

He aroused a mass meeting of his followers last night into a fervent shouting of responses to his oratorical questions, and in New York City John Joseph Foley, associate supervisor for New York state of the National Union for Social Justice, announced the priest would address a mass meeting in Brooklyn tonight.

Coughlin was silent on the statement issued by the Vatican that a recent statement in the Observator Romano, the Vatican newspaper, represented the opinion of "responsible Vatican officials."

The newspaper had criticized Father Coughlin severely for having called President Roosevelt a "liar."

But Coughlin's bishop, the Rev. Michael Gallagher, reiterated his former denial that the Vatican had rebuked either him or Father Coughlin for the priest's political statements.

"Neither Father Coughlin nor myself was censured at Rome," he said. "Obviously, I resent the implication of Observator that I disregarded instructions. Greatly do I deprecate false assertions that the Holy Father is pained with my disobedience when as a matter of fact the mind of the church was carried out before I left Rome."

Father Coughlin last night attacked President Roosevelt and his administration, ending up in this question, cried out in a great voice:

"Are you going to vote for Mr. Roosevelt or against him?"

"Against him," responded the crowd, estimated at 10,000, in Olympic sports arena.

Striking Newsmen To Attend Hearing

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 10.—(UP)—Striking American Newspaper Guild reporters and publishers of the suspended Seattle Post-Intelligencer were to appear at a national labor relations board hearing today.

Edwin S. Smith, board examiner, will hear Guild charges that the Post-Intelligencer acted unfairly when it discharged its employees.

The newsmen's organization has accused the newspaper of dismissing Photographer Frank Lynch and Drama Critic Philip Armstrong for activities in the union.

The newspaper was expected to counter with its contention that the employees were discharged for incompetency and insubordination.

Accidental Firing Of Gun Kills Boy

WOODLAND, Cal., Sept. 10.—(UP)—The accidental discharge of a shotgun killed George Knight, 19, of Brooks, former Sacramento junior college student, as he and two companions were hunting doves on Cache creek, authorities said today.

DEFEATED

John C. Stevenson, King's county commissioner and radio commentator, considered as most dangerous threat to the nomination of Gov. Clarence D. Martin for the Democratic gubernatorial in Washington, is trailing his adversary today by 40,000 votes.

BOATS WILL STAND BY IN OTHER PORTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(UP)—American warships today were ordered withdrawn from Spain to nearby European ports.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced that the orders had been issued by the navy department, after consultation with the state department, and would become effective immediately.

Hull said the ships would withdraw from Spanish waters to nearby ports of other nations and would not return to Spain except upon specific instructions to call at one or another of the Spanish ports to evacuate destitute Americans or other American nationals who wish to leave.

LOYAL TROOPS WIN VICTORY

MADRID, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Loyalists, in a surprise attack as part of which they crossed the river Ebro by night, surrounded and destroyed two entire regiments of rebel regulars, it was announced today.

The loyalists crossed the river, taking advantage of the stormy, moonless night, in row boats and flat-bottomed boats behind the advance guard who swam the stream, southeast of Zamora.

It was asserted that most of the men in the two rebel regiments—the Castile infantry regiment and the 9th cavalry—were killed or captured. The rebel

CIVIC LEADERS TO AID CHEST

FORMATION of a campaign council of civic leaders, with the first meeting scheduled for next Monday noon at the Green Cat cafe, was announced today by D. G. Tidball, chairman of the Community Chest campaign.

In announcing plans for the council, Tidball stated, "When I accepted the chairmanship of this year's Community Chest campaign I did so in the firm belief that a successful campaign could be conducted if the leading men and women in all phases of the life of our community would assist in planning the program and selecting the leadership for the various committees."

"With this in mind I am asking the leaders of organizations interested in civic betterment and other prominent citizens to serve on this council. The problems of raising adequate funds for our charity and welfare organizations are many and varied and as campaign chairman I feel that I need the advice and assistance of many people."

Among those who have been asked to serve on the campaign council are the following:

Fred C. Rowland, mayor; Rex

REPORT BRUSH FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Only a few "hot spots" remained burning today in the Topanga Canyon district, swept by a brush fire which devastated 4000 acres of brush and burned away many mountain cabins during the past four days.

The crew of firefighters which had battled the blaze since Monday reported that it was completely under control aside from the isolated hot spots in Los Flores canyon which they were extinguishing today.

The fire did an estimated $250,000 damage.

Work by 1500 firefighters saved more than 200 cabins. The fire lines were maintained today to prevent the flames from whipping up again and sweeping into the thickly-settled Tuna and old Topanga canyons.

Name Santa Rosa Boy Star Farmer

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 10.—(UP)—Lex Murray, 19-year-old Santa Rosa high school student, was honored today as "Star California Farmer."

The Sacramento chamber of commerce cup awarded on the basis of accomplishments in actual farming and other activities as a member of the future farmers of America organization was presented to Murray by Ralph H. Taylor, chairman of the agricultural committee.

The presentation was one of the highlights of today's program at the state fair.

PLANES DROP 'RED' TROOPS

MOSCOW, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The Red army air corps today set a world record for the unit transport of men and munitions by airplane when by parachute it dropped 1200 soldiers, 150 machine-guns and 18 cannons in the rear of the "enemy" during maneuvers in the Volga region.

The men and guns were dropped in a strategic position behind the "enemy" troops in eight minutes, an announcement said. Presumably this force, quickly appearing from the skies, would be able to make a highly-effective surprise attack on the "enemy."

Defenses against the sudden foray included anti-tank traps, masked trenches, barbed-wire entanglements and machine-gun nests.

While the "Blues" and "Reds" fought it out, their general staffs remained under ground in "electrical caverns."

"Blues" scouted the "Red" defenses, cavalry and tanks forcing the "enemy" back to a new line along the Volga.

Richman Waits for Favorable Weather

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Richard Merrill and Harry Richman, American trans-Atlantic fliers, took off for Liverpool at 3:50 p. m. today.

From Liverpool, they will start on their return journey to New York.

Richman said the date of the departure from Liverpool depends on weather reports. Their plane, the Lady Peace, carried sufficient gasoline to reach Liverpool, where an additional load for the trans-Atlantic flight has been sent.

START WALNUT CROP HARVEST

Hundreds of pickers and packers will receive employment during the season, the pickers being employed directly by the ranchers, according to past custom. Among the houses which were reported open, or to be open, almost immediately, are associations in Santa Ana, Garden Grove, Anaheim, Irvine, Fullerton (Fullerton Placencia house), Orange (Richland house), and Balaclava. The Rosenberg Brothers and Company, independent house, Orange, also will handle a share of the crop.

Will Start Processing
Joe Handelman, manager of Rosenbergs, said the house would open in a week or so. During the past year, Rosenbergs had a total output of 550 tons, or 1,100,000 pounds, of cracked walnut meats, he declared. Walnuts processed at the plant come from Ventura county on the north to San Diego county on the south.

At the Richland house, Orange, Manager A. D. Smiley said it is expected 550 tons of nuts will be handled this season. Smiley said the present foggy weather, so long as it continues warm, is fine for the crop and if the foggy weather continues, the house will open in early October. Last year, Richland handled 600 tons of nuts.

FULL CREW NOW IN BEAN HOUSE

SMELTZER, Sept. 10.—A full crew of 56 women is now employed at the Smeltzer Lima Bean association warehouse on the cleaning tables, the number having been increased from that of a skeleton crew which opened the season Wednesday of last week.

One shipment of beans has gone out from the Los Angeles harbor, the first sale of the new crop.

Four bean threshers are working in this section on fields which contribute beans to the local house.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—That Spanish revolution keeps dragging on with both sides making ambitious claims, but the only positive gains are still those recorded on the casualty lists. . . . From the way they keep knocking each other off, it looks like they might be using automobiles instead of machine guns.

I can't really understand why the politicians are going to such extremes to force their ideas on the country. . . . What's the use of being a party leader if your constituents can be found only in cemeteries?

We don't know how it will end, but from all appearances in Europe, it's beginning to look as though the dove of peace is a dead pigeon.

So Remember:
The pen may be mightier than the sword, but the same doesn't hold true with the machine gun. (Copyright, 1936, McNaught Syn., Inc.)

ARREST EX-CIRCUS STRONG MAN

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Police said a huge ex-circus strong man with powerful hands, Leonard Ledford, 28, whom they found running about the middle of a street babbling incoherently, was being questioned today in connection with the brutal sex murder of Ruth Muir at La Jolla.

Ledford was taken into custody at Sixth and Alameda streets after neighbors telephoned that a man was acting strangely. He said, according to officers, that he hitchhiked here from San Diego but denied knowledge of the murder.

Capt. D. E. Patton said the man's answers were vague and he would be questioned further. Police records showed, Captain Patton said, that Ledford served three years of a 6- to 10-year burglary sentence imposed in Hutchinson, Kans., in 1925.

After his release he travelled with a carnival as a wrestler and "strong man".

Records showed he was arrested here on a drunk charge Sept. 1, the day after Miss Muir's death.

San Diego police were expected here today to question him.

OFFICERS CHURCH SCHOOL SELECTED

LA HABRA, Sept. 10.—At a meeting of the official board of the La Habra Methodist Sunday school, held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Proud, officers for the coming year were elected. Plans were made for holding a rally day and promotion program at the Sunday school on September 27.

Officers elected at this meeting are Mrs. E. E. Proud, Sunday school superintendent; Ross Hodson, superintendent of the senior department; Mrs. J. A. Scofield, superintendent of the Junior and Intermediate departments; Mrs. I. E. Wiede, superintendent of the primary department; Mrs. Norton Skinner, superintendent of the grade roll department; Mrs. Rose Hodson, superintendent of the beginners' departments; Alvada Siebe, Sunday school secretary; Edith Beebower, treasurer; Mrs. M. J. Pickering, temperance superintendent and Mrs. Sheridan Phillips, superintendent of the home department.

NEWSWRITER IS HELD AS SPY

Editor's Note—Everett Holles, of the United Press Paris staff, risked his life to get to San Sebastian. The city is surrounded by rebels so he engaged a fishing boat. The first 15 boatmen he approached refused the trip because of the danger. In San Sebastian Holles was arrested as a spy and told he would be shot, but he talked his way out and returned with the following vivid dispatch:

By Everett Holles
ST. JEAN DE LUZ, France, Sept. 10.—(UP)—San Sebastian is about to add a terrible chapter to the history of the Spanish civil war.

The situation is this: For the present, while rebels move in from the hills and rebel airplanes fly overhead, a semblance of order is maintained within the city under harsh military discipline.

Anarchists and communists are in command for every purpose but one. That is, the question of surrendering the city without a struggle in view of the certainty of its fall, or destroying it utterly by dynamite and gasoline. To prevent the anarchists and communists from exercising their judgment on this one point, Basque nationalists are patrolling the streets. They are watching for dynamiters and incendiaries, with orders to shoot them.

Seeks Surrender
Antonio Ortega, civil governor, is negotiating with the rebel leader for the city's surrender. The rebels, I am informed, are willing to guarantee the lives of the defenders but with the blanket exception that they will shoot all anarchists mercilessly.

There seems to be no doubt that the rebels will take the city. The question seems to be whether the rebels will take the city. The question seems to be whether the rebels will take the city. The question seems to be whether the rebels will take the city.

My visit to San Sebastian was the most harrowing experience of my life. I had tried vainly to get to the city on the American destroyer Kane. Officers decided that I might take up room needed for one last refugee. I had to get a fishing boat. The first 15 skippers refused to take me because small rebel boats are patrolling the coast and challenging all craft, but the 16th agreed.

It was easy enough, I found, to get in; the problem was getting out.

Capt. Eskerra and his crew got me to San Sebastian in their blue cockle shell boat, Nadine. In the harbor we were told to pull up to the inspection dock. There our papers were examined and we were permitted to enter.

I strolled through the town. First I passed an old fort, unarmed, unused for hundreds of years, and I asked a crowd of soldiers, and I asked a crowd of soldiers, and I asked a crowd of soldiers, and I asked a crowd of soldiers.

Reporter Arrested
I walked on into the city, passing the Casino in the heart of town and then the military commandery.

I thought it a good idea to get an interpreter, and things looked uneasy so I returned to the port to find my fishermen. They had gone. I asked a militiaman nearby what had happened to them. He poked a revolver into my ribs and said:

"You're just the man we're looking for."

He took me into a guard house. When an English speaking militia captain arrived I found I was charged with being a spy—the old fort.

"You'll probably be shot about 5 o'clock this afternoon," the captain told me pleasantly.

My poor Spanish became voluble and its disorder seemed to persuade the captain that I was probably not an actual Spanish rebel. Still, he said, he favored shooting me. He explained that San Sebastian was full of rebel spies posing as Basque fishermen.

I persuaded the captain to call the French consul, there being no American consul. The consul suggested that as a sign of good faith I offer to ferry a boatload of child refugees back to St. Jean de Luz. The captain found the Nadine, examined its papers and grudgingly consented to my release.

I had been four hours under the capital charge of being a spy, most of that time I felt the muzzle of a revolver jammed into my stomach. On the other end of the revolver was a youth of about 18. He looked just as nervous and I was and I could not help feeling that he might pull the trigger at any time, just by accident.

None of my captors showed much faith in my integrity.

"You're getting off this time," one told me as my Basque fishermen hastily showed the Nadine from the dock, afraid they might be seized and shot. "Don't show your face here again or we'll put you in prison and forget you're there."

Plan Milk Hearing In Riverside Soon
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10.—(UP)—A hearing in Riverside, September 26, was called today by A. A. Brock, state director of agriculture, for the purpose of considering an amendment to the San Bernardino-Riverside milk marketing plan.

Producers have asked an increase in the price of milk fat from 59 to 69 cents a pound.

When President Opened Span Honoring Mark Twain

Climaxing the ceremony of dedicating the $750,000 Mark Twain Memorial bridge across the Mississippi river at Hannibal, Mo., President Roosevelt is shown as he held his scissors ready to cut the ribbon held by Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri, left. Speaking to a throng that packed the vicinity of the bridge for blocks, the president declared that the span stands symbolic of what can be done by co-operation of federal and local governments. In his address, he paid a glowing tribute to the life and works of the famed author whom the bridge honors.

only to unsolved spy plots, alien smuggling, religious and racial hatreds, mystic oriental rites and deep-rooted Hindu nationalism issues which date back to the "ram affair."

Ram Chandra, editor of a Gadar (independence) party paper and some 30 other persons were charged with plotting an Indian revolution. During the trial Chandra was accused of "selling out" his patriotic party members, pocketing treasury money and German funds paid him.

The last day of the trial Ram Singh, fellow-Hindu, shot and killed Ram Chandra in open court. Jamnabai B. Holohan, then U. S. Marshal, now retired warden of San Quentin prison, rose in his seat, and shot and killed Ram Singh.

Murders Unsolved
Not one of the 35 prior killings, all involving Hindus, has been solved. No confessions were obtained and no suspects convicted of murder. Six Hindus suspected of the slayings have committed suicide, some of them by hanging themselves by their turbans in their jail cells.

Arjan's name appears on the "death list" held by Fresno authorities, along with India's. The list contains the names of supposed enemies of the cult who have been condemned to death.

Fresno authorities did not disclose how they obtained possession of the "death list." Neither did they offer an explanation of the seeming paradox of one "marked man" assertedly confessing killing another. However, they pointed out that federal and state officials, through intensive investigation, had revealed several possible motives for slayings similar to Arjan's.

One theory advanced by Fresno authorities was that Arjan may have been an "informant" among Hindus illegally smuggled into this country across the Canadian or Mexican border.

Federal investigators several years ago established a definite link between the Indian murders and a secret illegal immigration cult pledged to inflict the death penalty on those who break silence on smuggling operations.

Kill Federal Employees
Three of the Hindu victims were known to have been East Indian interpreters for the U. S. immigration department. One was a University of California student who had aided state authorities in their investigation of another killing. His decapitated body was found in a Sacramento slough.

Existence of an East Indian terrorist organization which exacts cash tribute from terrified Hindu subjects as an alternative for death has been charged for several years by federal authorities.

L. M. Peckham, former U. S. attorney here, asserted several months ago that an investigation by immigration agents disclosed the Gadar party flourished on the Pacific coast with money collected under duress from Hindus who had been smuggled across the Mexican line.

A "war chest" of several thousands of dollars has been raised to fight government authorities in America and India, the prosecutor charged.

Collections were said to be in the hands of six gunmen who, obeying a mystic sign, assess swift death against Hindu victims who fail to pay tribute. "Dues" are levied on the pretext of averting deportation, it was alleged.

Officers pointed out that Hindus with the name "Singh" are members of the Sikh religious sect which is highly warlike and extols the virtue of violence in secret ritualistic ceremonies at Sikh temples known to be located throughout northern and central California.

SUGAR BEET DUMP SHIPS 667 TONS

WINTERSBURG, Sept. 10.—A total of 667 tons of sugar beets were shipped from the Wintersburg American beet dump for the first week it has been in operation, the crops here going to the sugar factory at Oxnard.

The men on the beet dump crew this year are L. H. Williams, weighmaster, and Fred Peters, sample catcher and rack man.

FIREMEN BEATEN BY ANAHEIM NINE

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 10.—In the current soft-ball tournament, Laguna Beach firemen took the short end of a 10-4 game, their opponents being Anaheim Chevrolets. Several hundred fans watched the game, which was characterized by good pitching on the part of Rapier, for Anaheim.

The first innings saw three runs scored by Anaheim, Miller, Rodgers and De Soto doing the work; and, also in the first, the firemen, at bat, were retired in one, two, three order. The line-up:

Laguna firemen—F. McLaughlin, 1b; Elterman, p; Arnette, ss; A. Johnson, c; Bushman, rf; W. Johnson, 2b; Hastie, cf; J. McLaughlin, 3b; Walters, lf; Anaheim Chevrolets—Deheric, 2b; Miller, 1b; Mason, c; Rodgers, ss; De Soto, 1b; Johnson, 3b; Ruiz, cf; Rapier, p; Klopfer, rf.

Tonight the firemen play Montgomery Ward; tomorrow will see the Laguna Lionettes vs. Capistrano, and the Laguna Lions vs. Costa Mesa Lions; Saturday, Laguna Chevrolets plays Pomona Title. Arrangements for games and scheduled line faced the necessity of recruiting an entire operating personnel before the President Hoover can weigh anchors with its 430 passengers and consignment of U. S. mail.

S. A. MERCHANT ENDS OWN LIFE

established the Gilbert Dry Goods company here in 1907, which business developed rapidly into one of Santa Ana's finest. He was the first business man in the city to establish a passenger elevator in a commercial house and the first to add a sales basement to his business, in Santa Ana.

Community Leader
Active in public affairs which resulted in community progress. Mr. Gilbert was director of the chamber of commerce for three years and vice president one year. For four years, he was a director of the Merchants and Manufacturers association, later absorbed by the Business Men's association, and was president of the organization at one time. For 10 years, Mr. Gilbert was a director of the Orange County Golf club, and was a vice president of the Santa Ana Country club, successor to the Orange County Golf club. He was at one time a member of the Los Angeles Athletic club and the Pacific Coast Beach club, of Long Beach. He was a life member of Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E.

Funeral Friday
Funeral services will be held from the Smith and Tutbill mortuary tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. O. Scott McFarland will officiate. Services will be in charge of the Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E. Interment will be at Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Gilbert is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura Y. Gilbert of Santa Ana. Other survivors are his daughters, Misses Eugenia and Geraldine Gilbert, of Santa Ana; and sons, Eugene and Clifton Gilbert, of Santa Ana; a brother, C. C. Gilbert, of Huntington Park, and sister, Fred Dumbleton, of Springfield, Mass.

FRENCH AMBASSADOR TO HONOR DETROYAT
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Loaded down with trophies he won as the star performer of the National Air Races, Michel Detroyat, a tall thin-haired Frenchman, leaves for Washington today aboard a commercial transport.

The French flier and Mme. Detroyat have been invited to be the guests of the French ambassador in Washington prior to their departure for France next week aboard the liner Normandie.

Detroyat showed no rancor because Col. Roscoe Turner, Los Angeles speed pilot, had accused him of using a "government subsidized plane" in the air races against a field of "backyard ships,"

In addition to La Follette, La Guardia and Norris, others who signed the conference call were Sen. Homer T. Bone, of Washington; Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York power authority; Edward Keating, editor of Labor, and A. A. Beerie, New York attorney, and Benson.

FRENCH METAL WORKERS QUIT

ported in the last few days in other sections of the country.

In Marseilles the entire metallurgical industry, involving 80 plants, has been tied up. Five thousand metal workers at Genoble have been on strike since last Thursday over terms of a labor contract and wages scales. Twenty-six hundred weavers at Amiens are striking for the same reason. Yesterday 1000 rubber workers affiliated with the General Confederation of Labor re-occupied the Michelin Tire works and 2600 members of the company union occupied the prefecture buildings in a counter strike.

The government last night ordered strong detachments of mobile guards to dislodge the strikers from the prefecture but the men left before the guard intervened.

Four new stay-in strikes began in the Paris region today. The Lille textile workers published a communiqué refusing to negotiate as long as 30,000 strikers occupy the mills in that region.

The employees of four chains of food stores were ordered to strike and occupy the stores in all parts of France.

The dock strike at Le Havre ended in a compromise and 1,200 men returned to work.

Ocean fishing at Lorient was halted by a seamen's strike which tied up 60 steam trawlers, obliging the packing factories to close.

Should other marine unions join a sympathy strike, the Dollar line faced the necessity of recruiting an entire operating personnel before the President Hoover can weigh anchors with its 430 passengers and consignment of U. S. mail.

Mission Program For Year Is Set

FULLERTON, Sept. 10.—A unified program for the Foreign and Home Missionary societies of the Methodist church has been adopted for the coming year. The two groups will meet jointly each third Tuesday of the month, and the programs will be alternated.

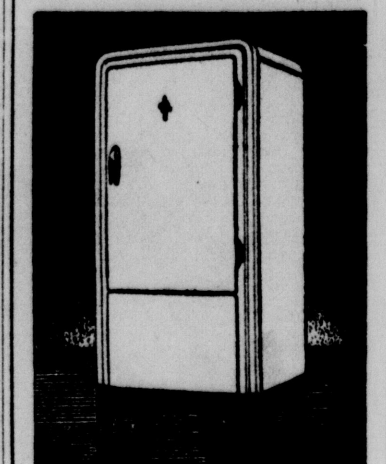

Plans for this were made at a joint executive board meeting at Hillcrest Park at noon Tuesday. Mrs. S. W. Douglas, president of the Foreign Society, and Mrs. W. P. Alexander, president of the Home society were in charge. The first meeting will be next Tuesday.

WITNESS GIVES DEFENSE JOLT IN DOPE CASE

The defense of Kenneth M. Bausell, of San Diego, on trial before a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court charged with smuggling dope into the county jail, received a jolt today when the prosecution produced a surprise witness, William J. Powell, who testified that Bausell had done the same thing in the San Diego county jail, and admitted the Orange county offense.

Powell said he was a fellow prisoner of Bausell in the San Diego jail when Bausell had tried to use him for smuggling purposes there, and that Bausell told him he had sent a shirt with a package of morphine concealed within it, to his brother, Gird Bausell, in the Orange county jail.

This corroboration of the charge against Bausell here followed testimony by local jailers that they had intercepted the package of morphine when it arrived at the Orange county jail, concealed in a red shirt addressed to Gird Bausell.

Gird subsequently was sent to San Quentin on a burglary charge. The arrest of Kenneth Bausell followed his release from the San Diego county jail, where he had been in the same tank with Powell, today's surprise witness.

Powell testified that Kenneth Bausell was a user of dope himself. Defense Counsel Edgar Langford cross-examined Powell briefly, obtained his admission that he was serving a sentence for grand theft, and insinuated doubt of Powell's statements by asking him if he meant to state that Bausell had been allowed to leave the San Diego jail without prosecution for dope smuggling.

Deputy Jailor William Young, who said he discovered the morphine hidden in the shirt; Jailor Budge Lacy, who confirmed the discovery; Deputy Sheriff H. J. Zabel, of the identification bureau, who testified regarding handwriting on the package, and Dr. Elizabeth W. Tock, whose analysis established the powder as morphine, were witnesses summoned by Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis before Powell testified. Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey took the stand when Powell finished.

Members of the jury are: Margaret E. Clem, Archie Henry, Mollie Peterson, Mary Williams, Velma Pomeroy, A. E. Bird, William W. Harwood, Mrs. Frank Richmond, Thyrna M. Swales, O. F. Rutledge and Kate Thompson.

P.-T. A. CHAIRMEN NAMED; PLAN MEET

Renkin, publicity; Mrs. Frank Long, Baby Clinic; Mrs. Winnie Green, safety; Mrs. Horace Blair, welfare; Mrs. P. H. Goodell, Founder's Day chairman; Mrs. Melvin Rich, motion picture chairman.

The first meeting of the group will be held at the Washington school on Wednesday afternoon, October 7. Mrs. L. E. Proud was appointed treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Lester Baldwin, and Mrs. Horace Blair will replace Mrs. Glen Dy-singer as vice-president.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED IN ORANGE COUNTY ACCIDENTS; CONVICTED DRIVER IS HURT

Convicted of drunk driving by a jury sitting in Santa Ana justice court and just freed after serving a 45-day county jail term, according to records, Sylvester Vasquez, 21, of Costa Mesa, was seriously injured in an automobile accident at 1 a. m. today on Flower street half a block south of Park boulevard.

On August 28, Vasquez came before Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court, where he was sentenced to serve 45 days in jail and where his driver's license was taken from him. Judge Morrison released Vasquez then because Vasquez had served exactly 45 days in jail during court proceedings.

Last night, Sylvester Vasquez was riding with Alfonso Vasquez, Pacific Vasquez, Olinda; Roger Vasquez, 1207 Fairview, Santa Ana, and Fidel Vasquez, Costa Mesa, with Alfonso reported driving, when the car blew a right front tire and went out of control, striking the curb of the parkway in the center of the roadway. Rushing on, the car tore down shrubbery and came to rest against a pole at the end of the parkway.

None was injured but Sylvester Vasquez. He was rushed to the county hospital where he was being treated today for badly lacerated scalp, lacerated right arm, body cuts and bruises, injured neck, cuts on left elbow, and cuts on left leg. He was given first aid prior to the trip to the hospital by Officers Charles Neer, L. C. Snodgrass, W. B. Moreland and Ralph Pantuso.

Half a mile north of Central avenue, La Habra, on 101 highway, about 8:30 o'clock last night, three persons were injured as cars driven by Dr. William E. Jackson, 47, 418 Euclalyptus avenue, Brea, and Rose Marie Dumas, 21, Los Angeles, collided on a curve. California highway patrol officers were informed the crash was head-on when Miss Dumas assertedly failed to negotiate the curve. The drivers and Richard Lane, 19, Los Angeles, were injured.

Bob Clark, 13, truck driver of 819 East Sixth, Santa Ana, was ticketed for failure to make a boulevard-stop at West First and Harbor boulevard yesterday, after an accident in the intersection, where his truck collided with a car operated by F. L. Sherman, 70, 1054 West Chestnut, Santa Ana. Sherman was taken to Santa Ana Valley hospital where his condition was reported "good" today. He suffered fractured ribs, cuts and shock. Alma Lindsey, 76, Pasadena, and Russell Hurst, 30, Los Angeles, were killed at First and Harbor by a July 5 accident which was blamed on failure to make boulevard-stop.

Arrested on a charge of reckless driving on South Main street recently, Steven Ursua, Santa Ana, was released from county jail today on $1000 property bond, pending trial in Santa Ana justice court September 22, according to reports. Ursua's car was involved in an accident.

BREAKFAST CLUB ADDS 5 MEMBERS

Five new members joined Santa Ana's early risers this morning at the regular meeting of the Breakfast club at the Main cafeteria.

They are Dr. Wendell L. Jollivet, Carl Swaren, Don Preble, Dr. N. W. Lowe and B. Barnett.

In preparation for the initiation of new members, to be held September 24, an initiatory staff of four was chosen. Hunter Leach was named chairman and will be assisted by C. F. Skewin, Jesse Elliot and Tom Letto.

A musical program, under the direction of Harold Mathews, included a tap dancing number by Miss Lorraine Seavey of the Vera Gitty studios. She was accompanied by Miss Janet Martin.

There was a banner attendance as most of the members who have been away during summer on vacations have returned. On conclusion of the meeting 25 certificates of membership, which had been newly framed, were sold, according to Edward W. Cochems, president of the club.

Beach Art Group Meets Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Ann Albee, 86, who died at her home, 640 West First street, Tustin, this morning, will be held from the Winbigler's mortuary Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Albee, who was the widow of Charles S. Albee, who died in 1927, had been a resident of Tustin for 40 years. She was born at Aurora, Ill.

The Rev. George A. Warner of the First Methodist church will officiate. Cremation will follow.

Mrs. Albee is survived by three nieces, Miss Minnie Lawton, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Harriet Benton, of Tustin, and Mrs. Ruth Mooney, of Denver, Colo., and a nephew, Ernest Judd, of St. Paul, Minn.

CONGRESSMAN IN COMMITTEE TALK

Pointing out that if he is returned to Washington this next session he will be the senior member in Congress from Southern California, a position entitling the holder to seniority rights on committees, Sam L. Collins yesterday addressed the Redlands and San Bernardino Central Republican committees.

The meeting was called by Grant Holcomb, chairman of the San Bernardino County Republican committee. The committees gave him a rising vote of confidence, saying that they would support him one hundred per cent.

Collins was accompanied by Howard B. Irwin, of Fullerton, chairman of the Orange County Republican Central committee.

G.O.P. Women Back Roosevelt's Child Welfare Program

Miss Grace Abbott is a lifelong Republican who served as Chief of the United States Children's Bureau for fourteen years. She accomplished such notable results in raising child health standards that her work was looked upon as symbolizing the interest of Republican Administrations in youth problems.

MISS GRACE ABBOTT
Roosevelt Supporter

While serving under former President Hoover, Miss Abbott had an opportunity to observe at first hand the toll of privation and destitution which the depression was taking upon youngsters of school age and the tiny children of preschool age. Naturally she was alarmed about the health of future generations.

Then came President Roosevelt with his courageous program for whipping the depression by inaugurating relief, building public works, and at the same time restoring purchasing power.

Today Miss Abbott is chairman of a national committee of welfare workers pledged to promote the re-election of President Roosevelt. It was not easy for Miss Abbott to leave the political party with which she was always affiliated, especially in view of her pleasant associations with the Administrations of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

But like millions of other women Miss Abbott realizes the tragedy that would befall this country if the National Government should abandon its humanitarian program or falter in its determination to improve living conditions for the great mass of Americans. She said:

"In the past three years under Roosevelt, more progress has been made toward the security of the worker than in the past thirty years."

"The defeat of Franklin D. Roosevelt would mean the triumph of the reactionary forces in the country, and security for the masses of men, women and children would no longer be the controlling objective of our national policy."

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT WORKER

Another enrolled Republican woman working for Mr. Roosevelt's re-election is Mrs. Dorothy Schiff Backer, of New York City. She is a woman of social position and is financially well off. But Mrs. Backer is able to consider something else besides her own selfish and immediate interests. She says:

"Naturally I want the world to be safe for my children, but it can't be safe for my children unless it is safe for other women's children, too."

"Social insecurity may seem remote to us in our comfortable house in Oyster Bay. It is anything but remote. Insufficient food, bad housing, underpaid labor, lack of public health protection—all these may concern my children, even if they are not the immediate victims."

"I would be desperately worried about my children's financial future if it were in the hands of an administration that wasn't giving consideration to the financial future of less fortunate children."

This column will soon reveal other noted Republican women who are supporting President Roosevelt. The swing of women leaders to Roosevelt is the most impressive development of the campaign.

Bang! The question bomb goes off in the poor elephant's face! How can Gov. Landon deny the evidence of Roosevelt prosperity?

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

A WORD FOR LANDON

Nathaniel Peffer wrote the other day in Scribner's the following protest:

"I for one am tired of having it proved to me that democracy is better than dictatorship."

"I know that."

"I want to be shown how we can stiffen democracy's defenses by giving it a weightier content."

Here, it seems to me, is terribly sensible advice to the political opposition as it goes into the 1936 presidential campaign.

There is a great job to be done in drumming into the heads of millions of Americans that democracy is better than dictatorship, even a veiled dictatorship that wears sheep's clothing of political liberty.

Too many Americans have looked wistfully at the seeming efficiency of the strong-arm dictatorships of Europe.

Too many Americans have been too complacent in the face of surrender after surrender of rights our fathers fought for.

But, what with blood purges in Germany, the wholesale burning of gasoline-soaked human beings in Spain, and so on, the glitter of dictatorship is being dulled.

The pendulum of admiration for "strong government" begins to swing back.

Now the job confronting American statesmen is to show how this democracy of ours can be made to do the job better than these "strong governments" can do it.

Get down to cases. What specific steps will be taken to reduce the ranks of the jobless?

What will be done to redress the balance between farm and factory?

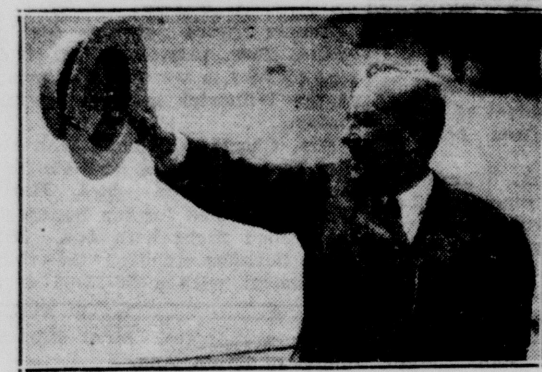

Get down to cases. This is a good word for Mr. Landon.

Landon's Budget Exempts Schools; Efficiency High

From the time Kansas was admitted to the Union, the schools in that state have been under local control, supported by local taxes, run by boards elected in each city or rural school district. These boards fix teachers' salaries independently.

On June 30, 1934, there were 2283 school districts with enrollments of ten or less. There were only twenty-three districts with forty or more pupils. The pupils of the schools closed in 1935 were in every instance provided with transportation to a school in another district under a law enacted in 1931, known as the Reese law. This is the general trend throughout the country, improving the quality of schools.

Gov. Alf M. Landon—his pay-as-you-go law exempts Kansas schools.

Schools Are Exempt

The pay-as-you-go plan enacted on Gov. Landon's recommendation and under which he balanced the state budget exempts all educational institutions from university to board school, and permits them to contract for teachers' salaries and other expenses beyond their cash in hand.

During the three years the law has been in operation, only 51 of the 8695 school districts have applied to the Tax Commission for permission to anticipate taxes. The commission authorized them to do so in 47 instances.

After Gov. Landon took office the number of teachers employed was increased, not decreased, although many rural district schools were combined. These are the figures:

	Number of Teachers Employed
1930 .....	19,578
1932 .....	18,917
(Gov. Landon took office)
1934 .....	19,234
1935 .....	19,396

Careful Attention To Schools

Last year when the first newspaper story of Kansas rural schools closing for want of money appeared, the State Tax Commission asked of every county superintendent of schools the following questions:

"Are any of the schools under your jurisdiction closed on account of the financial condition of the districts?"

"If your answer is in the affirmative, how many are closed?"

The response from the state's 105 counties showed that three schools had been closed January 1, 1936, because of financial difficulty. They had a total enrollment of nine pupils, who were assigned to other districts under the Reese law.

That is what happened in Kansas. It is the story of an agricultural state heavily afflicted by depression and drought, providing for the education of its youth. It is a story of careful attention to educational efficiency. It is not a good story on which to build campaign material for President Roosevelt. The New Deal Committee might examine the facts next time before making the loose charge that Gov. Landon's policies "played havoc with the Kansas school system."

CHANEY SPEAKER AT FORUM EVENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 10.—Homer C. Chaney, forum director for Orange county, spoke at the second lecture of the series at Memorial hall last night.

Mr. Chaney spoke on "Consumers' Cooperation." He recited the history of consumer cooperation from the experiments of 1820 to 1840 and over many periods of history when the question was given prominence.

The next lecture of the course will be held September 15 when Alden G. Alley will be the speaker. He has made 14 trips around the world and will talk on international affairs.

Train Funeral Held Wednesday

COSTA MESA, Sept. 10.—Private funeral services were held yesterday from the Dixon Funeral chapel for Elsie McHenry Train, 77, who passed away at his home, 117 Onyx avenue, Balboa Island on Monday. Interment was made at Westminster Memorial park.

The deceased, a resident of California for the past 30 years had lived on Balboa Island for seven years. His latter active business life was spent as a stock broker in Los Angeles. He was retired. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Eliza Train; a son E. Swift Train of Danville, California; and a daughter, Mrs. Mary W. Staffier.

CHURCH STAFF AT FULLERTON IS ORGANIZED

FULLERTON, Sept. 10.—"Creative Aims for the New Year" were presented by Dr. Graham C. Hunter, Presbyterian church minister, at the organization meeting of the church staff last night at the church. According to the speaker, fundamentals of the fuller life include happiness in daily living, unselfishness and cooperating through the development of the social instinct, a social mindedness in carrying for the needy and oppressed, ability to withstand criticism and pressure from without through prayer contact with the infinite, and a development of world mindedness. The speaker concluded his talk with an outline of departmental objectives.

September 13 was announced as "Home Coming Sunday" and teachers were asked to notify pupils in their group. The annual Young People's conference and retreat will be held Sunday at the Newport Beach home of the minister. Art Cassidy will conduct 6:30 o'clock vesper services. Delegates to the Occidental college conference will give their reports.

Discussion concerning the adoption of a modification of the present unified plan of service was held. The recommendation of the Sunday school board will be presented at the congregational meeting and social of next Tuesday evening by the superintendent, Lyman School.

Announcement was made of a school of instruction for Sunday school teachers and church officers September 21 at the Orange Presbyterian church.

The second Wednesday evening in each month was adopted as the regular meeting time for the group. The October 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Gohar, 610 Valley View drive.

TOASTMASTERS AND 20-30 CLUB MEETS

FULLERTON, Sept. 10.—Talks on "Toastmastership," "Think on These Things," "Sportsmanship," "California's Birthday" and "Union Rackets in Chicago" were presented by club members at the combined meeting of the 20-30 club and Toastmasters club last evening at Kibel's cafe. Homer Bemis was program chairman with A. E. Stuelke as the evening's toastmaster.

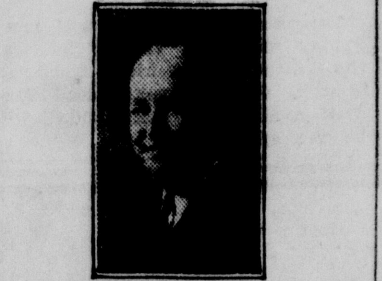

Ralph Layton, a charter member and past president of the Fullerton 20-30 club was elected national vice president of the association of 20-30 clubs at the convention held during the past week end at Stockton. Layton has also been district governor and national trustee. Harold Hemmer and Francis Koonitz were delegates to the convention from the local club.

A representative from the sheriff's office at Santa Ana will talk on "Fingerprinting" at the meeting next week.

FOR RENT — OUR SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Let us suppose some catastrophe over-took our nation. Some invading army has overrun our lands, destroyed our homes, and cities, and reduced our people to serfdom. What would happen?

The very worst phase of this condition would be—not the atrocities, not the mutilations, not the maimings, not the loss of our homes, and the money, not only the demoralization of our people, it would be the destruction of the seed from which American ideals spring — Our Schools.

Radio would be dead, newspapers would be useless, books could not be read, except by the few; we would go back to the dark ages in two generations. We would wander over the face of the world in hordes, starving and cold, and famine would be our partners; our over-lords would be gunpowder and the sword. The Statue of Liberty would be a watch-dog, blinded with rage and her scales of justice would be turned into the battering ram of iniquity.

Value our school system and the men and women who have dedicated their lives to it; appreciate the influence it wields in every corner of our nation.

GRAND MASTER OF MASONS TO VISIT LODGES TONIGHT

A large attendance of Masons is expected at Masonic hall this evening, when Grand Master Earl Warren pays his official visit to the lodge of the county. The state lodge of the fraternity will be accompanied by several members of the grand lodge of the state, among them Leon Whitsell, of Orange, junior grand master of grand lodge, an officer in line for the highest state office in the fraternity.

The meeting will take place in Masonic temple and will open with a dinner in the banquet hall at which it is expected that some 450 members of the fraternity will be present. Jubilee lodge of this city will act as host, with Santa Ana lodge and Silver Cord lodge assisting. Fred H. Pope, master of Jubilee and his corps of officers have charge of preparations and are anticipating the attendance and not only of delegations from every lodge in this county but many from Los Angeles and other cities outside the two Masonic districts included in Orange county.

This is the first time a grand master has visited in Santa Ana officially since the local Masonic temple was dedicated.

CHANEY SPEAKER AT FORUM MEET

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Sept. 10.—At present there are in the world 7000 cooperative societies with a membership of over 3,000,000 members, it was stated by Homer C. Chaney, of Santa Ana, Orange County Public Forum director, in a talk that he gave at a Forum program in the main auditorium of the Newport Harbor Union High school last night on the topic, "Consumers' Cooperation."

A period of questions and answers and several short talks by others followed Mr. Chaney's address. Professor Goss G. Grable was in charge of the meeting.

It was announced by Mrs. Muriel White, editor of the Forum News and announcer for the Orange county organization, that the speaker for the meeting for September 16 at the high school will be Alden G. Alley. Mr. Alley has just returned from a trip around the world, which makes his fifteenth trip abroad since 1920, it was stated, and he will speak on the subject, "Who Are the War Makers?"

STATE PATROL READY FOR NEW HEADQUARTERS

For the first time since the establishment of the California Highway patrol in Orange county, the officers whose duty it is to patrol county roads, will have headquarters that they can call their own. Within the next two weeks, under the direction of Capt. Henry C. Meehan, the entire personnel and all office equipment, will be moved to the new headquarters at 3005 North Main street.

"The new offices," Captain Meehan said today, "are just what we have been looking for. The building is located on a principal highway, but at the same time is not in a heavily traveled zone. There is a large area surrounding the building for parking space, and the office itself will be much larger than the cramped quarters at the court house.

"The entire building is being renovated and the interior remodeled to suit our purposes. There will be spacious quarters established as a squad room or club room for the officers. We also plan to have a large room equipped for giving tests to applicants for driving licenses."

Ray Ingles, director of the state motor vehicle department, revealed today that six other possible locations had been considered. Most of them, he said, were out of the question, either because the owners demanded too much rent, or because their locations were not favorable. The site finally selected, he said, was chosen because it meets every requirement demanded by the department. The lease, signed for five years, calls for a rent of $75 a month, and although the department realized the necessity of new quarters for the local patrol offices, it was unwilling to pay a higher rental, Ingles said.

Doorbell Ringer Sought by Police

City police searched in vain last night for a man who rang the doorbell at the home of Mrs. M. Bowers, 1401 North Main, and when she came to the door, fled down the street.

Officers believed the man might have attempted burglary had he found no one at home.

Red Cross First Aid Certificates Distributed Here

Standard first aid certificates have been received by Harry Edwards, chairman of first aid for the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross, for the 15 senior time keepers of the WPA recreational service, who recently completed the Red Cross course under the instruction of John Garthe and Dr. James Farrage.

These certificates from the American National Red Cross are being distributed to Evelyn Atwood, Ralph Davis, E. E. Easley, H. H. Hopkins, George E. Hubbard, Vena Greder, W. J. Jenkins, Darold C. Meyer, Lawrence Platt, Lillian Schneider, Mrs. Josephine Schuster, Joe Shalmeberger, Harold C. Welch, Lloyd Wilkerson and Theodore Yelkin.

Standard and advanced certificates have also come through for Burnett Lane, who received special instruction under Dr. James Farrage.

ADVANCE SALE OF TICKETS ANNOUNCED

Advance sale of reserved seat tickets for the Passion Play to be presented under the auspices of the Santa Ana Elks will be ready for the public tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Passion Play headquarters, 114 East Fourth street, it was revealed today by William W. Garvin, committee chairman.

Only the east bleachers of the Municipal bowl will be used in the performances, which are to be held September 16-17 in the evenings only.

The method used by the Christus character while on the cross portraying death was at first a closely guarded secret. Now it is known that this leading character can endure 15 minutes on the cross, apparently not breathing, only because of training in invisible breathing studied in the Far East under the guidance of the Yogi race.

SUPPORT PLEDGED BY RAY ADKINSON

Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools and a candidate for the democratic nomination for Congress from the 19th Congressional district in the primary election, today congratulated Harry R. Sheppard, Townsend endorsed candidate who won the nomination and pledged his support during the forthcoming campaign.

Adkinson said in a statement released today: "I wish to again congratulate Harry R. Sheppard on his wonderful victory in the August primaries. Indeed, the Democratic party has given him an overwhelming vote of confidence. It is my hope that this popular expression indicates the beginning of a new note of unity within the ranks of the party. May Mr. Sheppard's candidacy and his leadership in behalf of the national ticket in this district perpetuate this unity. Democracy can best be served when every member of the Democratic party loyally supports the choice of the majority. This I will be happy to do."

Registration Of Students Friday

Out-of-town students entering Frances E. Willard Junior High school for the first time will be registered tomorrow morning starting at 9 o'clock, it was announced today by Lyle B. Mitchell, principal.

Registration for old students and new students entering from Santa Ana grammar schools will be held Monday at 8 a. m. Mrs. Grace Lund will be in the main office from 10-12 tomorrow morning for consultation with all newly entering girls concerning uniforms.

DANCE CLOSES ACTIVITIES OF J. C. STUDENTS

Three days of activity for the freshmen students of the local Junior college were concluded today with an Associated Students dance in honor of the newcomers held in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. building.

The activities of the final day were begun this morning at 10 o'clock with an assembly held in the Baptist church auditorium under the direction of L. L. Bee-man, faculty head of the Freshmen days. The program included a piano solo by Miss Elzamae Hoxsie and numbers by a trio composed of Frank Marr, Martin Rowman and Miss Mary Jane Belcher. J. Russell Bruff, science instructor on the campus, addressed the students on the topic "College Standards." Director D. K. Hammond concluded the program with an explanation of the registration procedure.

Following the assembly, the freshmen were guests of the Associated Students at a luncheon held in the Y. M. C. A. dining room. The luncheon program was conducted by Vic Rowland, Associated Students president, who introduced all the members of the student executive board. These include Bill Sheppard, vice president; Neil McDaniel, treasurer; Betty Lee, secretary; Ray Riggs, editor of El Don; Franklin Guthrie, commissioner of men's athletics; Barbara Hallman, commissioner of women's athletics; Frances Was, president of the Associated Women Students; John Ramirez, commissioner of forensics; Jean Mulbar, president of Y. W. C. A.; and Paul Christ, president of Y. M. C. A.

Music was furnished by Bruce Mayhugh and a trio of Miss Anna May Archer, Robert Porcay and Miss Beatrice Granas. Miss Zen Leek, women's coach, talked on "Women's Athletics." An address on men's athletics was given by Coach Bill Cook.

Sixty-six of the 92 elements found on earth have been located in the sun.

Hollywood Film Actress Jailed On Drunk Charge

Assertedly wearing only a tear-drop in her eye, a cut on the forehead and a short coat which she donned before leaving her room, Mrs. Eula Crötzer, 38, 5314 Cartwright street, Hollywood, who said she is an actress, was arrested at Fourth and Spurgeon streets at 3:45 a. m. today and charged with being drunk.

Mrs. Crötzer, five feet, four inches tall, blue eyes and brown hair, weighing 110 pounds, claimed, according to the arresting officers, F. L. Grouard and Burnette Lane, that she had been in her room when her husband walked in with a strange woman.

"This woman started a fight and put me out," Mrs. Crötzer assertedly explained.

The officers rendered first aid and, with Police Matron Dorothy Russick, escorted the actress to the county jail.

Police News

City Officers W. B. Moreland and Ralph Pantuso did their "daily good deed" yesterday as Grace Houck, Anaheim, reported she was unable to unlock the door to her parked car. The officers unlocked the door for her.

A. C. Callahan, Colton truck driver, wasn't "peddling" flagstones in the 1000-block of South Main street after all, yesterday, when city police investigated on complaint of a nearby resident. Callahan explained the load of flagstones on his truck were assigned to Hollywood and he was waiting on South Main street to see a man before continuing on the way to the film city. Callahan is a tile company employe.

When officers investigated complaint of a South Flower street resident that a house trailer had been parked on Olive street between Birchard and Edinger for almost a week, they found George Dennis and family, house trailer owners, happily situated. But Dennis said the family would move to a new "home site" at once.

WESTMINSTER REBEKAHS MEET DRAWS CROWD

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 10.—Approximately 100 attended the Rebekah District meeting convened at I. O. O. F. hall in Westminster for an all-day session Tuesday, with Aloha Rebekah members acting as hosts. The noon luncheon which was public, opened the day's activities and a 6 o'clock dinner in the evening for grand officers, noble grand and vice presidents of lodges, were both given under the supervision of Mrs. Linda McDaniel. The Rebekah lodge colors of pink and green were used effectively at tables by Mrs. Maude Michel and nut and candy containers in the form of ships marked the places.

The meeting, which was the 73rd district meeting, was opened by the hostess noble grand, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, who introduced Mrs. Mary Edwards, district deputy president of the Rebekah assembly who in turn introduced the vice president, Mrs. Helen Humm of Los Angeles, who presided for the day at the periods of the school of instruction.

Grand officers of the Rebekah assembly and former appointive officers were first escorted in, these being: past elective officers, Mrs. Amelia Prather Osterlag, Mrs. May Reynolds, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Stella Merrick, Mrs. Fanny Lacy, past assembly presidents, Mrs. Lacy also being a past trustee of the I. O. O. F. home; appointive officers, Mrs. Gladys Smith, assembly musician; Mrs. Mary Edwards, Mrs. Jennet Annin, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Bessie Stowell, Mrs. Lula Nankervis, past district deputy presidents, and a past district deputy president from the state of Oregon, now a resident of District No. 5, Mrs. Carr.

Some past appointive officers were introduced: Mrs. Barber, past outside guardian of the Rebekah assembly; Mrs. Mang, marshal of the assembly.

In the school of instruction different parts of the work were demonstrated by the different lodges of the district. Representing the six lodges of the district were Anahelm, Fullerton, Torosa, Santa Ana; Ruby, Orange; Sycamore, Santa Ana; Westminster.

Mrs. Edwards was presented a gift from the district assembly, and Lois lodge of Anaheim will act as host at the next district meeting which is scheduled for March 3.

Following the evening session a program was presented with two solo numbers, "Homings" and "The Liliac Tree" by Mrs. Merle Rhee; several instrumental numbers by Mrs. Grace Groves and members of her trio with piano accordion, guitar and mandolin, and two readings by Mrs. Floy Hilborn of the local lodge; a vocal solo and piano solo by a representative of Ruby lodge and a vocal solo by Mrs. Brown of Torosa lodge.

Refreshments of punch and wafers were served at the closing hour of the district meeting.

LIBRARY WORK TO START IN 10 DAYS

Work on the $5000 La Habra Library will start within the next 10 days, according to an announcement by county WPA officials today. Of the total cost of construction, the government is providing $1000 to be used for labor. The remaining amount is being provided by the city.

The project will take approximately four months to complete. Construction of the new library will give employment to 20 men over the four-month period.

Walsh Talks At Townsend Meet

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 10.—J. H. Walsh, of Costa Mesa, district organizer for Orange and Riverside counties, spoke before members of Garden Grove Townsend club Monday evening in the Woman's Civic clubhouse. He gave a detailed report on his trip as a delegate to the Cleveland convention of Townsend plan advocates. He also spoke regarding the general election this fall and qualifications of various candidates. He deplored the fact that many voters are too indifferent or lazy to go to the polls and exercise their rights as citizens.

The United States imports more than 7000 quill pens from England every year.

JUNIOR, SENIOR CHAMBERS HOLD JOINT MEETING

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 10.—A joint dinner meeting was held by the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce and newly organized Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening in the Woman's Civic clubhouse with about 75 members and their wives attending.

Following dinner served by members of the Woman's club, E. J. Tobias, president of the chamber of commerce, extended greetings and introduced Ralph Michelson, president of the Junior group, who in turn presented C. A. Michel, of Santa Monica, vice president of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce. He told of various problems being worked on by the national organization.

Dian Gardner, representative of the Orange County Taxation Speakers Bureau, spoke on "Taxation," telling of the three different tax measures to be voted upon at the November election. He expressed the view of the bureau that the income tax should be retained.

Miss Dorothy Wentz, county librarian, told of the setup of the county library and named books available in connection with the Orange County Forum. Each president introduced officers of their organization. During the dinner instrumental and vocal numbers were furnished by the WPA Mexican trio, George Tobias led in community singing. Dr. Charles F. Seitter, pastor of the First Methodist church gave invocation and the Rev. William J. Keech, pastor of the Baptist church gave the closing prayer.

FOURTH AT BROADWAY — SANTA ANA

AN HONOR NOBODY WANTS

Along about this time every year the custom is to peek over the other guy's fence into his corral and observe how the pigskinners (not the pigs) are getting along.

It's funny how the other guy's stock always looks better. Invariably the peaches on your side of the fence look bigger and brighter.

Take the East—Bob Spray

San Jaycee conference football setup. Chaffey makes Santa Ana a pre-season favorite. Santa Ana hands the doubtful honor along to Riverside, champion of the past two seasons, with a side-glance at Fullerton. Riverside doesn't want it, chucking it along like a red-hot potato to Citrus or San Bernardino or whoever will take it.

Let's try to analyze this business with the least emotion possible. Santa Ana certainly figures to be there or thereabouts at the end of the season. Although beaten six times last year, only three conference clubs could do it and the Dons were in the titular running until the last day. The squad is adequately stocked with winning material everywhere except in the middle of the line. But no team without centers and guards can hope to win a championship.

However, there is still a good chance that the two men Coach Bill Cook needs will be with the squad by the time college opens next week. They are Bob Spray, the best center in the league, and Joe Crawford, a husky guard from Santa Ana High school, who is contemplating enrollment.

Spray, who would be a cinch to write his ticket into any college on the coast if he were to return and repeat last term's defensive display, is badly needed. The graduation of Harold Youel and the ineligibility of Sam Bragg leaves Cook without a No. 1 man unless Gordon West, the El Segundo lad, makes the grade, or Bob Holmes and Les Minder come up fast.

Crawford could replace Art Craft, the all-conference guard who is entering U. C. L. A. Joe weighs 203 now and if he, Al Jones, Crowther, Reid and Robinson got the credit at Poly field but the rugged Crawford, barely 16 then, was in every ball all the time, moving from guard to tackle and back again with equal facility, and never once taking time out.

Riverside naturally enough comes in for close scrutiny in this preliminary survey. Coach Jess Mortensen loses 17 lettermen yet has seven regulars returning. Riverside also inherits the bulk of last year's Riverside High school squad which won the All-Citrus Belt league championship. This would seem to warrant making Riverside, not Santa Ana or any other team, the logical favorite.

San Bernardino will bear watching. Coach Douglas Smythe has had a full year to get acclimated. He took his squad into the mountains two weeks ago, should have a beautifully conditioned team by October. The Indian line will be lighter than last year's massive forward wall, but tackle strength is problematical, but the campus is full of imported linemen and backs and San Bernardino's stock is definitely on the upgrade.

Fullerton at Citrus, where each year he manufactures death and destruction for the favorites, especially the Dons, rotund Al Claves says nothing but does plenty. It has been rumored all summer that Jim Montgomery, the best back in the conference last year, would transfer to Notre Dame, but now they say he's definitely returning and will be in suit Monday when practice begins at Azusa. Citrus lost Herb Ward, ace tackle well as another tackle, an end, a center and three backfield regulars.

Pomona is the hardest school to tab. News is hard to get from the Red Devils. The departure of "Wrong Way" Roy Riegels brings Joe onnet, hitherto an obscure member of the athletic department, into the limelight as head coach. onnet is highly regarded in the profession yet the Pomona task represents an uphill job because the material is limited.

Fullerton is the real question mark. The Yellowjackets always have been tough and Roy Priebe, their new coach, is rated as a highly skilled technician of the "Tex" Oliver type, a fellow who never was much of a player himself but probably learned more football merely by observing. No less an authority than Howard Jones recommended Priebe, I'm told.

Fullerton has nine lettermen but only three of these started against Santa Ana last Thanksgiving day. However, the Jackets start with the best pair of tackles in the conference in Lauterborn and Ridgeway. Lauterborn was the best minor college tackle in last year. And any team with powerful tackles will not be beaten badly.

Bell Returns To Fight Game

Socking Sophomores, Led By Schindler, Hold Key To 'If' Situation At U. S. C.

(This is the third of a United Press series dealing with the football prospects of Pacific Coast teams—Sport editors' note.)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Upon the hefty shoulders of an untitled sophomore quarterback apparently has been placed the burden of guiding the 1936 University of Southern California football team from the grid morass in which the Trojans have floundered during the past two seasons. The big "if" man at S. C. is Ambrose Schindler, of last year's frosh, who appears on paper to have the stuff from which Coach Howard Jones moulded all-America quarterbacks in the bygone days of Morley Drury, Russ Saunders, "Cotton" Warburton and Orv Mohler. He comes from San Diego, the same as Warburton and Saunders.

Schindler has speed, power and shows promise of field generalship. If he delivers like hopeful Trojan fans believe he will, it may be a big year for Schindler who will have playmates alongside of him who look good.

Chief cause for pre-season celebration inside the battered walls of Troy is the presence of the first likely looking pair of tackles since the famous combination of Ernie Smith and Tay Brown. The young and husky hopefuls are Don McNeil and Ray George, who played together at Loyola high school in Los Angeles and who were outstanding stars on the potent Trojan frosh squad of 1935.

McNeil is 18, stands 6:2 and weighs 203. Even tactician Coach Jones, grown overly cautious by his sad experiences of the last two seasons, grudgingly admits McNeil has about everything he usually expects in a tackle George scales 197 and is not as rangy as his mate. However, George is built close to the ground, is strong and has staying qualities.

Jones also believes he has a running guard in the person of Owen Hansen, who may stack up with Johnny Baker and Aaron Rosenberg, of all-America fame. Hansen, a blocking back last fall, was converted during spring practice. At standing guard, Joe Preininger, of Santa Ana, who played last year, will find his position challenged by four good men, including Earl Haas of the frosh.

The center job has posted a "no-vacancy" sign, as it is conceded that barring some calamity that berth will be occupied by Capt. Gil Kuhn, one of the best Trojan centers of recent years.

Troy should be strong in the end department with Bill Gaisford, a leading coast pass-snatcher, and Gene Hibbs, another dependable veteran, on hand. Ray Wehba, a sophomore, may squeeze ahead of one of the oldersters, however, because he is proficient at the end-around, a trick Coach Jones delights to spring on the opposition. Ralph Stanley, another stellar sophomore, will complete the first string end layout.

Sophomores will dominate the backfield, headed by the redoubtable Schindler. It was believed that all veterans with the exception of Dave Davis, the fast quarterback of last season, will be outshone by newcomers.

Lyman (Beans) Russell, 196, an Oklahoma boy, will occupy the blocking right half berth, an important cog not filled to satisfaction since the days when Erny Pinckert led the interference. Cove Dunn, 190, a San Diegoan, who played on the frosh last fall, is ahead of his opposition for first call at left half.

The fullback post is a puzzler. Glenn Thompson, who showed promise last fall, was regarded as a first string stand-out, but reportedly has had trouble with the faculty concerning his classroom ratings. Thompson is trying to straighten out the records and receive a professional okay for duty. Angelo Peccianti, a hard-hitting sophomore, was used at fullback during spring practice and may get the call.

The Trojans will play a typical "killer" schedule along with the other coast conference teams. Included are Oregon State, Oregon, University of Illinois, Washington State, Stanford, California, Washington, U. C. L. A. and Notre Dame.

"It's a tough schedule," opined Headman Jones. "We can't count on too much success in point of victories from a new group of boys, but I think we will be strong enough to give any of these teams a battle they'll remember."

VARGAS TAKES ON ESTRADA IN HEADLINE BOUT

Boxing fans are looking forward with keen interest to seeing the former Santa Ana football player, Fred ("Porky") Bell, in action tonight, after a layoff of six months.

Bell started his fight career like a whirlwind, then decided to lay off to brush up on the finer points of the game. Bell will face Jack Ryan, fighting Irishman from San Bernardino.

While Bell is a vastly improved fighter, he probably will have to knock out the Irishman to win.

In the main event Ray ("Kayo") Vargas, the Atwood Assassin, conqueror of "Tiger" Woods, "Buck" Durbin, "Sonny" Hopson and others. Vargas likely will have the toughest fight of his career for Estrada is rated as one of the hardest hitting amateur middleweights in the state.

Cocky Maxie Moore, of Orange, recently crowned state national guard champ who has won his last 20 fights, will battle Marcus ("K. O.") Rey, who has won 30 of his 50 fights by knockouts. Rey has never been stopped.

Another popular Orange fighter, "Bud" McCarther, who looked good stopping "Tiny" Antle last week, meets Jose Sanchez, upper county slugger.

Raoul Solis, Santa Ana ace batter, will mix it with Joe Ybarra, who had little trouble in whipping Don Benzo, Orange county lightweight champion, last week. Ybarra is expected to have plenty of trouble with Solis, who was too clever for the fast-stepping Redlands veteran, Everett ("Cyclone") Jure.

Smarting under the trouncing given him by Ybarra, Young Benzo comes back determined to beat Jure and earn a return bout with Ybarra. The two are said to have little use for each other so the fight is expected to be a real grudge battle.

Manuel Ortiz who holds decisions over Paddy Quillen, Mayo Sorio, Chief Lopez and others faces Teddy Bear, San Bernardino bantam, who has met the best of them. Two crowd-pleasers, Benny Garcia, Santa Ana, and Al Estrada, San Bernardino, open the show.

TELL PAIRINGS FOR U. S. AMATEUR GOLF

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Heaviest firing in the battle for the United States Amateur golf championship, which begins Monday at the Garden City club, N. Y., will center in the upper half of the draw, according to first and second round pairings announced today by the U. S. G. A.

Of the 105 players spotted in the top half of the tourney—which is all match play—six are former title-holders, one is a former U. S. Open titleholder, another was a finalist last year against Lawson Little, who since has turned professional, and another is the British amateur king.

The lower bracket includes two previous winners, six American and four British Walker Cup stars, U. S. G. A. officials said there was no attempt to make the top half strongest because "all the names were drawn from a hat."

Forty-six players drew first round byes and will not see action until the remainder of the field catches up with them after Monday's opening rounds of 18 holes of match play.

After Monday's initial competition over one of the oldest courses in America the field will be cut to 128. Wednesday and Thursday, two 18-hole elimination rounds will be played daily, with the four survivors clashing in the 36-hole semifinals Friday and the finalists meeting over the same route Saturday.

NETS BEAUTY TITLE

The beauty title is one honor that England's Kay Stammers seldom if ever has to relinquish in international tennis competition. Here she poses prettily between matches of the Women's National singles championship at Forest Hills, N. Y.

Boxing fans are looking forward with keen interest to seeing the former Santa Ana football player, Fred ("Porky") Bell, in action tonight, after a layoff of six months.

While Bell is a vastly improved fighter, he probably will have to knock out the Irishman to win.

YANKEES AFTER LEAGUE RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Yankees are in. They received the checkered flag in the American league race after topping Cleveland in the first game of a double-header yesterday, leaving the baseball world to speculate on which National league pitching corps could hope to silence the big guns of the Bronx Bombers in the coming world series.

It takes topnotch pitching to stop them, as is easily seen from their record of clinching the pennant with 16 games left to play, and none of the National contenders seem to have the twirling strength to down them. Only Carl Hubbell of the Giants, "Dizzy" Dean of the Cardinals and Larry French of the Cubs appear dangerous.

With 164 home runs to their credit, the Yankees are almost certain to better the all-time mark of 173 set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932.

Leading the circuit by 18 games, there is excellent reason to believe that the Yankees also will establish a new American league margin for winning the pennant. Another two-game advantage, and they will top the record of 19 set in 1927 by the original Murderers' Row, which had Ruth, Gehrig, Muesel and Lazzeri.

However, Col. Jake Ruppert has made ample replacements, and the new Murderers' row has six members instead of four. Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Joe Dimaggio, Jake Powell, "Red" Rolfe and George Selkirk, all pasting the ball at better than .300, make the Yankee lineup one of the most formidable ever known. Besides Lazzeri, the only regular on the team hitting less than .300 is Frank Crosetti, who is hovering around .290. Manager Joe McCarthy also has two pitchers high in the batting columns, Johnnie Murphy and "Red" Ruffing, with percentages of .367 and .316 respectively.

McCarthy's Master Stroke Looking back on the drive to the pennant, it appears that the acquisition of Monte Pearson from the Cleveland Indians was McCarthy's master stroke. When "Lefty" Gomez failed it was only the brilliant pitching of Pearson which enabled the Yankees to clinch the flag on the earliest date in American league history—four days earlier than the 1927 Yanks turned the trick.

Pearson had the honor of twirling his team to a mathematical certainty for the championship yesterday.

In the National league, the Giants' leading margin was lessened to 4½ games over St. Louis as they split a doubleheader with Cincinnati while the Cards grabbed out a 3 to 1 victory over Boston in 15 innings. The Giants won the first game, 4 to 2, then succumbed, 3 to 2. The Chicago Cubs slipped to a game and a half behind St. Louis by dividing with the Phillies.

NEBRASKA END LOOKS GOOD IN JAYSEE DRILL

Santa Ana Jaysee's football schedule was complete today with the acquisition of the Whittier college freshmen for a night contest here Nov. 20. Ten games—six of them home affairs—make up the 1936 campaign as follows:

Sept. 18—Santa Ana at Pasadena; Sept. 25—Glendale at Santa Ana; Oct. 2—Long Beach at Santa Ana; Oct. 9—Santa Ana at Citrus; Oct. 16—Chaffey at Santa Ana; Oct. 23—San Bernardino at Santa Ana; Oct. 30—by; Nov. 6—Pomona at Santa Ana; Nov. 13—Santa Ana at Riverside; Nov. 20—Whittier freshmen at Santa Ana; Nov. 26—Santa Ana at Fullerton.

Coach Bill Cook this morning was continuing double duty at the Municipal Bowl with two sessions a day—morning and afternoon. The Don mentor's prayer for another good end and capable quarterback seemed to be answered when three likely looking candidates showed up. Lyle Scott, end, and captain of the Arapahoe, Neb., eleven last year, caused a ripple of excitement as did the appearance of Elmer Smith, quarterback from Orange, and Kenneth Marshall, who played regularly in the backfield of last season's Williamson, N. D. team. Scott, with 160 pounds well distributed over a six-two frame, made quite an impression.

Joe Herbert, whose spot-passing accounted largely for two of the Dons' victories last fall, checked out a suit and took part in the drill. The Fullerton quarterback has been employed in a Los Angeles trucking company this summer and has taken to wearing glasses for close reading.

It became definitely known following a report from Dean Calvin Flint's office at the junior college that Quayle Petersmeyer, who played freshman ball at the University of Chicago, would be ineligible because of the transfer rule.

Heaping more ashes on Cook's head came a report that Carl Benson, 190-pound letterman guard, may not return to grid wars this fall because of employment.

While in an interlocutory mood after practice, Blanchard Beatty, Cook's assistant who returns here after a year at Occidental, said it seemed pretty good to get back to his old stamping grounds. He thinks that "Rusty" Roquet, ex-Anaheim high school tackle, who wants to take a shot at fullback, and Ed Stanley, who played end and tackle at Orange two years ago, look like "sweet ball players."

Cook had two teams engaged in dummy scrimmage yesterday. One unit had Youel and Tauber, ends; Bolton and Pinkston, tackles; Mosiman and Rash, guards; and Minder, center; on the line with Lentz and Beall, halfbacks; Moore, quarter; and Roquet, full.

The other eleven had Greshner and Titensor, ends; Paul and Stanley, tackles; Waer and Holmes, guards; and Gordon West, 183-pounder from El Segundo, at center. The backfield was composed of Koepsel, quarter; Phoenix and John Lehnhardt, halves; and Lamb, full.

43 REPORT FOR SAINT PRACTICE

Santa Ana high school's football roster was expected to jump over the 50-mark today with Captain Dwight Nott and a number of other leading candidates scheduled to check out equipment at Poly field. Exactly 43 reported to Coaches Bill Foote and Reese Greene when the practice season was formally inaugurated yesterday.

Most of the prospective regulars were on deck as Coach Foote lined up two purely tentative teams and ran plays for approximately two hours. Missing, however, were Half-back Nott, Quarter Harold Tucker, Tackle Vernon Carney and Fullback Joe Kadowski, all potential first stringers. Ray Caudell, Milt Smith and Bill Collins also failed to show up.

The turnout included two out-of-state transfers. Hugh Hile, claims experience at Ashland, Ore., and Herbert Carver, a halfback with good football legs, registered from Bend, Minn.

Those in suit were Leonard Stafford, Jim O'Connell, Bill Reid, Charles Price, Ernest Barrett, Hugh Lowe, Joe Ortega, Larry Sumner, Fred Wagner, James Merritt, Bud Maddock, Gerald Stauffer, Lyle Moyer, Bill Milligan, Bernard Robinson, Allen Wall, Don Warhurst, Mark Stewart, Ralph Beckman, Greighton Hunter, James Johnson, Marvin Webb, Charles Sawyer, Bill Johnson, Gene O'Campo, Herbert Carver, Dick Horton, Hugh Hile, Munn Kasper, Harry Arvey, Herschel Whitney, Harry Adams, Ralph Blower, Rodger Engel, Harry Ashen, Bud Hamaker, Ralph Pa-genkopp, Mittuau Nitta, Del Beard, Billie Musick and Jack McClure.

Coach Foote did not spend the summer in Minnesota in vain. He came up with a new wrinkle to California football in the form of individual blocking dummies that Bernie Bierman has used at Minnesota several years. "Big Bill" Milligan lopped off five pounds the first day of practice. He weighed 210 afterward. Ferris Wall, who'll man the other tackle, scaled 189. Sophomore Barney Robinson, brother of Jack, is going to give somebody a run for a backfield berth. The Saint turf is in better condition than ever before. Until school starts Saint practice will not get under way until after 3 p. m. Reason: the heat. Poly field has no goal posts yet. Bill Musick at 180 is bigger now than Jim ever was during his high school career. And Bill is only a junior.

PORTLAND BEAVERS REGAIN RACE LEAD

(By United Press) Portland bounced back into the Pacific Coast league leadership by beating Seattle in an Admission Day doubleheader, while San Diego's Padres, "kings for a day," dropped back under the weight of two defeats handed them by the San Francisco Seals.

FASTER THAN JOHNSON Bob Grove and Walter Johnson had nothing on Bob Feller, the 17-year-old Cleveland Indian pitcher who recently fanned 15 St. Louis Browns in one game. Pat Monahan, veteran Brownie scout, who saw the youngster in the minors, says he'll make the fireballs of those two pitchers look like floaters in a few years.

BIG TEN GRIDMEN OPEN SEASON GRIND

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Six hundred Big 10 athletes answered the opening call today of the 1936 football season, which found Minnesota and Ohio State once more bristling against the field in the midwest.

The co-champions weathered heavy graduation losses and ranked as favorites for the second consecutive season since they do not play each other.

With the opening drill, Harry Stuhldreher, member of the famous "Four Horsemen" a dozen years ago and former coach at Villa Nova, Pa., officially set in motion his new athletic regime at Wisconsin. He replaced Athletic Director Walter Meany and Coach Clarence W. Spears in a drastic cleanup of the Badger athletic department during the winter. Stuhldreher called out a squad of 48, smallest in the conference.

Sixty-nine greeted Bob Zuppke as he began his 24th year at Illinois. Bernie Bierman issued invitations to 65 Minnesota candidates, Lynn Waldorf called 65 at Northwestern.

Dorothy Bundy Loses In National Singles

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(UP)—Helen Pedersen, slim blonde from Stamford, Conn., eliminated Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., daughter of the 1904 champion, in the quarter-finals of Women's National singles tennis tourney today. The scores were 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

In eliminating the youngster who in the first round defeated Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Payson, a finalist last year, Miss Pedersen gained the semi-final round where tomorrow she will meet Alice Marble for a place in the finals.

Miss Bundy, a 19-year-old youngster making her first appearance in the nationals, bowed out of the tournament after a gallant struggle in a match that lasted almost two hours.

After dropping the first set, she smashed to a 5-1 lead in the second. Then she dropped the next three games and prolonged the match by keeping her own service in the tenth game.

Miss Pedersen, driving furiously from the baseline, swept the first game in the final set. Miss Bundy took the second and broke service to lead 2-1 in the next. Miss Bundy, who is seeded seventh, broke through in the fourth and held her service in the fifth. Games then followed service. The tenth, which Miss Pedersen took 4-2 to win the match.

Miss Bundy, who plays virtually all the time from deep court, was outstretched in the final set. She slammed 16 shots outside and hammered seven of them into the net. A real test for Helen Jacobs and an earnest battle between Frankie Parker and Gregory Mangin were in prospect later today.

Miss Jacobs meets up with Gussie Baggett, newcomer from San Francisco. Gussie is little known outside her native California except to close followers of the eastern circuit. Among the latter she has stirred up a deal of respect; enough so that while a victory for her would be an upset it would not be a thorough-going surprise.

Winner of the Mangin-Parker set-to-will meet the victor in the match between Don Budge and John McDiarmid of Fort Worth. This of course, is equivalent to saying Mangin or Parker will play Budge.

EXPECT PADRES BACK IN FULLERTON PARK

A Pacific coast league baseball team will definitely train at Fullerton next spring, Clarence Dersch, manager of the Erie hotel, said today.

Dersch has been authorized by Fullerton's city council to negotiate with various ball teams to get a club to condition in the Commonwealth park.

In all probability it will be San Diego again.

Owner Bill Lane, however, has been made a tempting offer from Brawley.

"You know, Dersch," the Fullerton hotel man quotes Lane as saying, "Brawley did make me a better proposition than you did, but I am satisfied with Fullerton. I am getting to be an old man and I can't travel so well; that's why I'm considering training right here in San Diego."

While the San Diego club will have the priority right to the Fullerton park next spring, Dersch has contacted several other Coast league clubs and has received favorable responses from both Seattle and Portland.

SABELLA JOINS OILERS FRIDAY

Impressed by the brilliant talent Manager George Lackaye has assembled against him, Manager Joe Rodgers of the Huntington Beach Oilers today signed famed Frank ("Chico") Sabella for Friday night's baseball carnival at the Municipal Bowl.

Rated as the No. 1 pitcher in night ball until Louie Neva came along, Sabella for the first time will be a teammate of the robust Russian, "Chico" will hurt part of the game against Lackaye's all-National league team. It will be Sabella's first appearance here since early in 1935. Neva will pitch at least five or six innings and then move into the outfield. Rodgers wants him in the game at all times on account of his hitting.

Lackaye has 13 men lined up with the all-stars. They are Coates and Larimer, pitchers; Koraj and Wallin, catchers; Montgomery, first base; McNabb and Smith, second base; Young, third base; Comstock, shortstop; Bell, left field; Leavitt Daley, center field, and Reboin and Webb, right field. Fred Wiseman, Anaheim outfielder, will not be able to play and neither will "Nan" Coots. Santa Ana first sacker, Lackaye is also after Outfielder Tom Denney and expects to contact him today.

The ball game will be preceded by a series of unique events—including a 100 yard dash, a throwing contest, fungo hitting and base-circling against time.

BILL HANSON SIGNS TO OPPOSE MASQUER

Billy (The Kid) Hanson, sensational Salt Lake City, Utah, heavyweight wrestler, who is undefeated in this section and is generally regarded as one of the leading contenders for the undisputed championship now in possession of Dave Levine, was definitely signed today to meet the Giant Masquerader in Monday night's three-fall feature match at the Orange County Athletic club.

Hanson was selected when Promoter Sam Sampson, who figured he'd use either Nick Lutze or Hanson against the Masquerader learned that Lutze had signed to appear in the main event at Phoenix on the same night.

Sampson also completed pairings in his supporting matches. The promoter decided to rematch the 285-pound Haskell Indian, "Tiny" Roebuck, against Herb Freeman; Myron Cox, the Cabrillo Beach lifeguard captain, with "Baron" Ginsberg, and Ironman Louie Miller with Smiling Steve Strelich, veteran brother of Mike.

The raised prices which were in effect for Levin's two appearances have been curtailed, with a new scale of prices going into effect. Tops will be $1, Sampson said, with general admission half this amount.

COUPLE FROM FULLERTON IN WEDDING RITES

FULLERTON, Sept. 10. — Miss Katherine Prizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Prizer, 503 West Amerige, and W. Dan Kuhns, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kuhns, West Malvern, were married last night at the Santa Ana Wedding Chapel with about 60 friends and relatives attending the ceremony.

The bride, dressed in white tulle, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Chesley of Long Beach, matron of honor, and another sister Miss Barbara Prizer, maid of honor, and two bridesmaids, Miss Betty Hampton and Miss Virginia Moffett. All her attendants were gowned in shades of orange.

Jack Stiles attended the bridegroom as best man, and John Hobbs and Bud Wagner were ushers.

Prior to the ceremony Bud Wagner played a group of organ numbers and Mrs. Neola Prizer, grandmother of the bride, played the wedding march and the recessional. The wedding march was "The Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin."

Following the wedding, with Mrs. E. L. Prizer of Solano Beach assisting, Mrs. Prizer served refreshments at a reception at the family home. A group of special friends of the bride also assisted.

Both young people are graduates of the Fullerton schools and of the University of California at Berkeley.

After the ceremony they left for Berkeley where he is a field supervisor for the Del Monte Fruit company. They will reside at Berkeley.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10.—Settin' Around (MGM): Had lunch with Irving Thalberg in the swank studio cafe, which has two floors and private dining rooms. Modern in design, murals on the walls, the place is strictly the nut. "All you need is an orchestra and some pretty girls," I said. "To turn this into a night club," Thalberg lifted an eyebrow. "Pretty girls?" he echoed. "And what's wrong with our girls?" With Jean Harlow, Myrna Loy, Maureen O'Sullivan, Eleanor Powell, and Betty Furness sitting in my line of sight, I was forced to retract that part of my statement.

Eleanor Powell was "just visiting" today. I encountered her on the "Born to Dance" set, not working but watching others of the cast hard at it. Everyone was eating cookies, and despite luncheon, my mouth watered until Eleanor proffered a plate. "I made them," she said, "and everybody's been eating them and nobody's dead yet. Take a chance." They were delicious: the Powell gal is as good at baking as at tapping.

One the "Camille" set, Greta Garbo was not in sight, but Robert Taylor was, and he described his first introduction to Greta. He was seated in a far corner studying a script when a hand touched his shoulder. He looked up to find director George Cukor and Cukor said, "I think you should know Miss Garbo. In a few minutes you'll be making love to her." "All I could say was 'Pleased to know you, Miss Garbo,'" Bob told me, "and I was aching to say 'Make love? Boy this is going to be fun!'"

Few were present for that first love scene, because despite all the publicity bomb about a "changed, democratic Garbo," she is as moose and aloof as ever. However, one who was there told me that when Bob and Greta locked grips for that first love scene, it was Garbo who came out of it limp as a wet rag.

Myrna Loy and William Powell were in the midst of a different sort of love sequence for "Libeled Lady." It was a scene filled with double-talk and fast repartee; typical of Bill and Myrna.

"My gosh," I said to her, "Every time we meet, you and Powell are co-starring, playing man and wife."

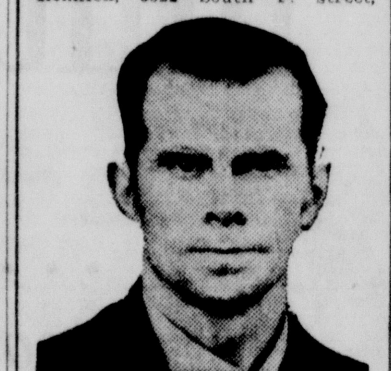

"I know," she laughed. "It's reached the point where if I stand between Bill and my husband, habit almost makes me introduce Mr. Powell as my real hubby."

The scene in progress necessitated that Powell and Miss Loy stop at a hamburger stand, order and eat a sandwich each. Both had downed enormous lunches, and the prospect of eating again was none too inviting. "Fix the sandwiches any way the players want them," the director instructed the hamburger man. "That's great!" Powell exclaimed. "Would you mind taking the meat out of mine, then throwing away the bun?"

FULL DAYS WORK A PLEASURE FEELING AS HE DOES TODAY

Entire Outlook On Life Changed Since Gly-Cas Has Given Him Back His Health; Indigestion, Nervousness Gone; Enjoys New Strength and Energy.

"After all other medicines failed to make an impression on my stubborn case Gly-Cas went right to the source of my health troubles," said Mr. Milton A. Rennick, 3522 South F. street.

MR. MILTON A. RENNICK

Eureka, California. "For eight years I had been alling with habitual constipation. I was nervous, my kidneys caused me endless trouble, back pains continually. My system filled with poisons and my stomach was badly affected. After every meal I suffered with severe attacks of indigestion regardless of my diet. My appetite began to fail and I lost in weight rapidly the last few weeks before I began this new Gly-Cas I was terribly weak, had no pep and anything I did was with great effort. Many days I did my work on grit alone I felt so miserable—but all of this has now been changed since I gave Gly-Cas the opportunity to help me."

"I gave Gly-Cas an honest trial and by the time I had finished my third box I was feeling like a new man," continued Mr. Rennick. "Today I am free of all traces of my former health troubles. My appetite is good, eat anything I wish with no suffering afterwards, kidneys are normal, nerves are quieted, I am gaining in weight and strength and am able to do a good days work for it is a REAL pleasure feeling as I do today. Anyone suffering as I did should throw away all prejudice and give Gly-Cas the opportunity to help them for it is efficient, mild and powerful."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy Drug Company, 108 West Fourth street, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

DEDICATE NEW SCHOOL PLANT AT CEREMONY

The new high school auditorium building was dedicated last night in the presence of about 700 Santa Ana citizens and platform guests at impressive exercises in the auditorium.

Present and former school officials, civic leaders, officials, as well as the designers and builders of the new structure took part in the dedication ceremony, conducted at 7:30 p. m.

City Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson presided over the exercises, which opened with the singing of America, played by Daniel Stover, of the high school music department.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke the invocation.

Herbert G. Bickel, new member of the high school music department, disclosed a magnificent tenor voice in the rendition of three solo numbers, with Miss McIntosh, of Santa Monica, as his accompanist.

Chairman George Wells, of the board of education, then introduced the board members, Dr. Margaret Baker, Ridley Smith, M. B. Youel, and Vice Chairman R. R. Hays, all of whom spoke briefly.

Extend Greetings
Mrs. John Mills, city P.-T. A. president, extended greetings on behalf of her organization, after which D. K. Hammond, director of Santa Ana Junior college and for many years principal of the high school, spoke impressively of the occasion and what it represented in educational advancement.

D. C. Allison, of the architect firm, Allison and Allison, designers of the new high school group, and Allison Honer, member of the contracting firm, Means and Ball, and Honer, builders of the auditorium structure, were called upon for brief remarks.

Mrs. Dudley Pace Harper dedicated the new auditorium piano with a number that won great applause for her talent.

The program concluded with Chairman Wells formally presenting the new building to the district, and High School Principal Lynn H. Crawford accepting it.

Guests Listed
Platform guests included J. A.

Cranston, city superintendent of schools from 1906 to 1931; W. M. Clayton, vice principal of the high school since 1902; Dr. W. M. Burke, former board member; County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson; Secretary George Newcom, of the board; Mrs. H. C. Drown, president of the fourth district congress of parents and teachers; Mrs. Neil Beisel, vice president of the state P.-T. A.; Mrs. E. H. Elsner, president of the high school P.-T. A.; Theron Means, Harry Ball and Allison Honer, the contractors.

District Attorney W. F. Menton and Deputy Preston Turner, who guided the board in the legal phases of the building program; Guy Gilbert, president of the Rotary club, who directed the school bond campaign last December; Dr. Melbourne Mabey, president of the Kiwanis club; Rolla R. Hays Jr., president of the Lions club; Dr. H. T. Stroschein, president of the 20-30 club; Lena Thomas, president of the Business and Professional Women's club; Ernest Layton, member of the city council.

Cotton Not Present
Hamilton H. Cotton, of San Clemente, whose influence had aided the district in obtaining financial aid for the building program from the federal government, had been invited as a special guest of honor, but was unable to be present.

Following the dedication exercises, the spectators were taken on tours of inspection through the building, with student guides. Teachers were in their classrooms to receive them.

Boy Held After $5 Ring Stolen

"Just for curiosity" was the reason given by a 15-year-old boy yesterday to Officers Charles W. Wolford and Paul Conard for entering a room at 911 West Sixth street and allegedly stealing a $5 signet ring belonging to O. A. Cook, tenant at the place.

The youth said he happened to notice the door open, walked in, saw the ring on a dresser, stuck it in his pocket and left. When Officer Conard asked him if he had taken the ring, he denied he had, entered a room and closed the door. But Conard later found the ring in his pocket. The youth was given into custody of juvenile authorities.

Betty Ryheard, 312 North Olive, reported a thief, apparently using pass key, recently stole a $15 razor from a dresser drawer at her home. Officers were investigating.

B. P. & W. CLUB TO MEET ON TUESDAY

FULLERTON, Sept. 10.—Members of the Fullerton Business and Professional Women's club will meet at Balboa Island next Tuesday for the regular combined business and social session.

Plans were made at an executive board meeting held at the home of Alice Smith last night. Miss Mary Campbell presided.

Miss Florence Durkee was voted in as a new member.

Following the meeting last night the members attending, Mrs. Ethel

Watson, Rena Willets, Edith Curry and Miss Smith and Miss Campbell, called on Miss Gertrude De Gelder, Fullerton librarian, who is ill at her home.

DOUGLAS FAMILY RETURNS HOME

FULLERTON, Sept. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Douglas have returned to their home on Nicholas avenue after a 11 weeks' tour of the middle west. They went by the southern route, stopping at Dallas for the Texas fair, and continued through the Ozarks, through Arkansas, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and westward over the Theodore Roosevelt highway to Washington.

They were accompanied as far as Indiana by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Williams of Fullerton. Dr. Williams is a teacher at the Fullerton District Junior college. Mr. Douglas is a high school instructor.

They visited the Fort Peck dam, and other water development projects during their trip, and stopped at the shrines of Abraham Lincoln and other historical characters. They visited relatives and friends throughout the trip.

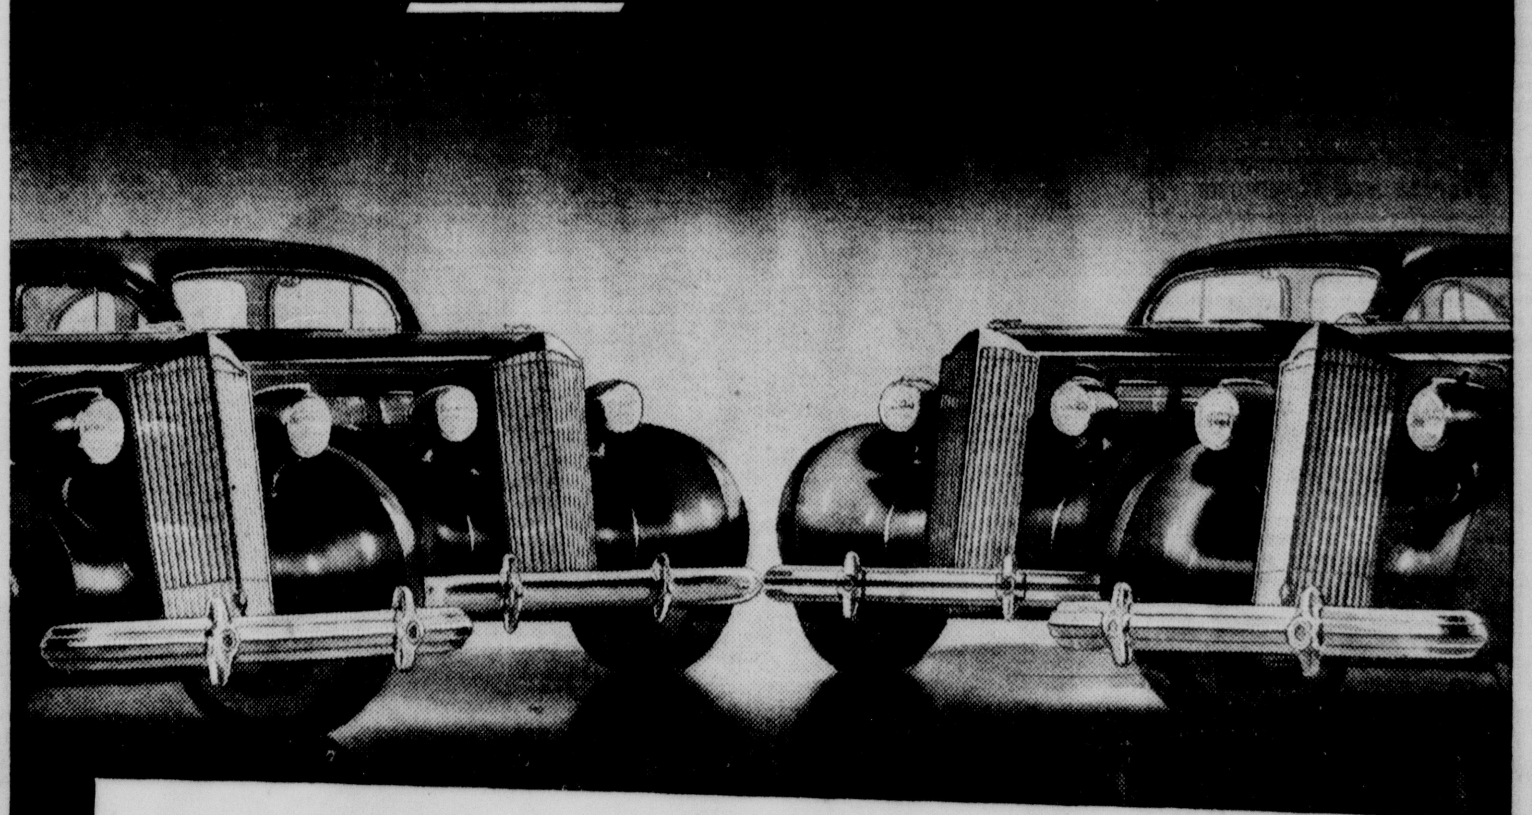

Dr. and Mrs. Williams purchased a new car in which they returned.

Four great new Packards... FOUR NEW LOW PRICES!

For 1937, Packard presents the top-quality car in each of four price classes

FOR 1937 Packard offers you the four greatest Packards ever built. Each is the leader of its price class. And each sells for a new low price!

The 1937 Packard Twelve is the finest car money can buy. It steps so far ahead mechanically for 1937 that there simply is no other make of car with which to compare it.

The 1937 Packard Super-Eight succeeds both last year's Eight and Super-Eight, and brings to motorists a combination of mechanical advancements which promise to revolutionize fine-car motoring.

The 1937 Packard 120 is proof that a car can be a sensation three times in a row. This car, whose outstanding performance has been the talk of the motoring world, is an even better car this year.

And—out of Packard's 36 years of experience in building fine cars, now comes a brand-new Packard — The Packard Six.

The greatest low-priced car America has ever seen

Priced at $795, list at factory, the new Packard Six is a car that is destined to completely re-shape the low-priced car picture! It brings to its field a combination of qualities that no car of this price has ever possessed before—long mechanical life combined with long style life.

The Packard Six, and its brother Packards, are now ready for you to see and drive. Come in at your earliest convenience and let us demonstrate the tremendous values these Packards offer this year.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

REQUEST FOR KVOE CHANGES BEING CHECKED

The federal communications commission is today checking the technical and financial angles of an application from radio station KVOE, Santa Ana, requesting permission to make changes in its equipment.

Stating the requested changes were too "technical" to describe, officials said they would work to improve the broadcasting of KVOE.

The application will be granted provided that KVOE's application for renewal of license, which will be heard later this month, is granted, and that it is proven that the equipment changes will suit the "public interest, convenience, and necessity," officials said.

No figures were given as to the cost of the proposed equipment changes, but the application stated that no stock would have to be sold in the Voice of the Orange Empire, Inc., Ltd., Third and Sycamore streets, Santa Ana, owners of the station, to finance them provided the application is granted.

The principal stockholders of the Voice of the Orange Empire Inc., Ltd., were given as J. S. Edwards, of Redlands, California, who owns 66 2-3 per cent, and Ernest L. Spencer, of Santa Ana, who owns 33 1-3 per cent.

NEW TWIN BILL NOW AT BROADWAY

Showing today and tomorrow only, a complete new program opens today at the Broadway theater. The double feature program includes the films "I'd Give My Life" and "Walking on Air."

The terror of a woman, faced with the resurrection of a youthful indiscretion which will ruin her happiness and wreck her husband's career, is thrillingly brought to the screen in "I'd Give My Life," featuring Sir Guy Standing, Tom Brown, Frances Drake and Janet Beecher. The picture is the story of an honest politician's relentless fight to clean his state of the racketeers who have gained control.

Having proved their success as a romantic team in "Hooray for Love" last season, Gene Raymond and Ann Southern are together again in "Walking on Air," a high-speed saga of a rocky romance, enhanced with several tuneful melodies. Miss Southern displays her vivacious talent for high comedy as an obstreperous heiress bent on marrying the wrong man. Raymond shines in the part of an engaging and ingenious college graduate who, about to face the world penniless, hires himself out to pose as an insufferable French count.

GARDEN GROVE FORUM OPENS

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 10. — Homer C. Chaney, director of the Orange County Forums, is scheduled to speak on Thursday evening at the first meeting of a series of six Orange County Public Forums to be held in the Garden Grove Union High school. His subject will be "Consumer's Cooperation." Vernon King, member of the Forum's Advisory board, will preside as chairman, and announces that the meeting will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

The subject for the forum meeting on September 17 is "Who Are the War Makers?" to be discussed by Alden G. Alley, who will again conduct the forum meeting on September 24 on the subject, "Can America Live Alone?"

Dr. Graham A. Laing will speak on the subject, "The Price of Progress," at the forum on October 1 and on the subject, "Monopoly in Industry" on October 8. The last meeting of the series will be held on October 15 with Homer C. Chaney speaking on the topic, "Shall We Save or Spend An American Dilemma."

Federal Music Project Plans Light Operas

Music lovers of Santa Ana will soon be given the opportunity to hear a series of light opera productions, if plans announced by the San Diego opera unit of the Federal Music Project of the WPA are completed.

Word was received from the San Diego unit today, to the effect that plans have been perfected whereby one or more light operas will be produced in Orange county in the near future. The group has just closed a successful run of "The Mikado" at the Savoy theater in San Diego, and have now been authorized to go on the road with subsequent productions. In a communication from A. C. Johnson, director of public relations for the San Diego unit of the Federal Music Project, it was explained that similar productions had met with success. In all probability, Santa Ana will not be the only community in Orange county where the San Diego company will present the light opera productions, Johnson said. Present plans call for presentation in several Orange county cities.

Townsend club No. 11 will hold an ice cream social tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock at the Franklin school, 1512 West Fourth street.

KIEPURA, KARLOFF ON STATE SCREEN

The current program at the State theater presents a weird picture of adventure titled "The Walking Dead," with Boris Karloff providing chills and thrills, and a charming and gayly entertaining musical romance, "Give Us This Night," with Gladys Swarthout and Jan Kiepura.

The cast of the thriller, which is offered for the first time in Santa Ana, includes Ricardo Cortez, Edmund Gwenn, Marguerite Churchill, Warren Hull, Barton MacLane and Henry O'Neill. The occult manner in which revenge is sought by a man who is revived after being executed, is calculated to make one's blood freeze.

The musical romance concerns the rise to fame of a young Italian fisherman under the sponsorship of a lovely young opera star and an established composer. The film has many enjoyable musical numbers.

PWA Grants In Orange County Aggregate $1,503,141

PWA LOANS IN COUNTY TOTAL OVER MILLION

According to figures compiled by the local PWA office, Orange county has been the beneficiary of some $1,503,141 from the Public Works Administration in the form of grants, thereby aiding various communities and public bodies in erecting and constructing permanent public improvements. It was announced today by A. D. Wilder, state director of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works (PWA).

The projects include 30 school buildings, two school athletic projects, four school equipment projects, two ocean breakwaters, three outfall sewer systems, five sewage disposal plants, two storm drains, one water conservation project, two waterworks systems, a hospital unit, an electrical distributing system, a modern city hall, harbor development, the estimated cost of which is $5,187,705.

In addition to the grants, the federal government has made loans to those communities not having their own immediate funds at hand, in the sum of $1,107,100.

A breakdown of the above figures shows that under the first (1933) PWA program, allocated $475,300 in the form of grants, which was 16 per cent of the total cost of the projects, amounting to some $2,833,507. Under the second (1935) program, the Federal government allocated $1,025,750 in the form of grants which is 43 1/2 per cent of the total cost of the projects, amounting to $2,354,198. Combining the two programs, the Public Works Administration has contributed 29 per cent of the total cost of the projects.

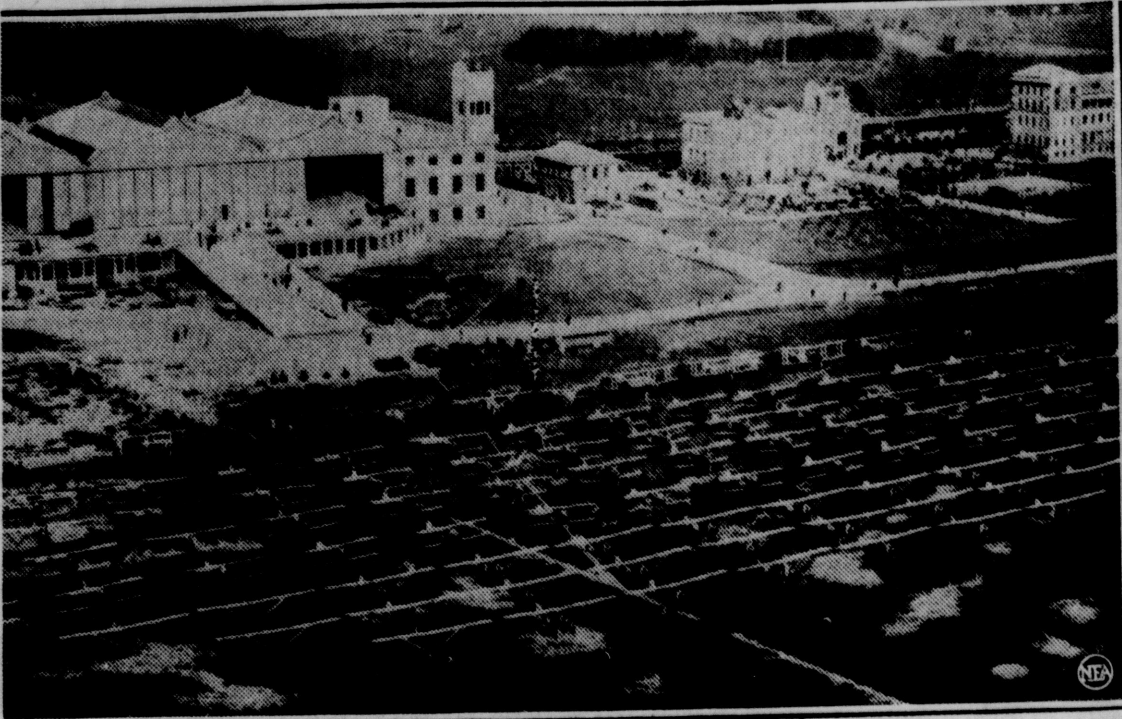

Modern improvements, such as disposal plants and sewer systems, are helping to safeguard the health of the various communities affected. Newport Beach is improving its harbor and is constructing a breakwater and Seal Beach has constructed a modern sewage disposal plant and a breakwater to protect its beach.

The Orange County hospital is adding an addition to take care of tubercular patients and Santa Ana has completed a modern city hall and is constructing various school buildings. Anaheim is building a new modern high school and has installed a modern electrical distributing system.

According to the PWA inspection division, the PWA program has provided employment, on and off site of the jobs, to some 3765 men in Orange county, all of which have been continuously employed for the three years at an average salary of $105 per month.

It is interesting to note that Orange county, one of 58 counties of California, has received one twenty-seventh of the PWA allocations for the state of California, it was said. The PWA program for

Live Oak Tree Here Bears Black Walnuts

By MARAH ADAMS

In the parking at 1416 Durant street there is a live oak tree which bears a crop of black walnuts. This almost unbelievable fact has been known to residents of that vicinity probably the past 20 or more years. The tree is guarded in no way and no efforts have been made in recent years to give it any special care.

How or when this natural crossing, such a crossing would be impossible and that never could a live oak tree be found which bore black walnuts. For an answer Dr. Newton sent two of the trees to the Kew gardens where no doubt they are now growing. Later he sent several of the trees to each botanical garden of which he knew all over the world.

The interesting history of the tree is related by Mrs. Pierce who returned from the east to Santa Ana last year. Dr. Pierce passed away about 20 years ago at a time when his botanical garden on Durant street was highly developed.

He was educated at Ann Arbor where he began studying for an entomologist and while there he became interested in botany. In this science he made such a remarkable record that when David Hewes of the Hewes ranch in 1885 appealed to the government for a man to be sent to Southern Europe and Northern Africa to study the grapevines of those countries and perhaps to find a cure for the strange blight which had made its appearance in vineyards here he was selected by the government for the post.

Dr. Pierce, Mrs. Pierce relates, established an exchange of seeds and bulbs with missionaries in nearly all parts of the world. His experiment station extended the full length of the 1400 block and from Durant street through to Ross street. Some of the trees left from the many rare varieties ruthlessly destroyed, may still be seen and all of these were raised from seeds sent by the missionaries. One of the most beautiful trees is a Spanish Chestnut fruit from which was sold in a smart Italian cafe in Los Angeles at a fabulous price.

Lovely Flowers
There were delicately lovely flowers in the garden shaded by trees which had come together under such unusual circumstances. There was the dombeya from Africa with its faintly fragrant flowers and always in bloom. Natives from Rhodesia with plums, shrubs which carried the scent of the jasmine and bore delicious fruit. There were climbing lilies which climbed by means of tendrils in the tips of their leaves.

At one time there were 35 kinds of palms growing at the station. Now several of these left standing excite the admiration of all who see them. They bear fruit very pleasant to the taste, some with the flavor of grapes. Fruit hangs in grape-like clusters several feet long. At one time Mrs. Pierce offered the land to the city at a reasonable figure as a park site. She believed that it would be a valuable asset with its grove of Australian Queensland nut trees, its cork trees, pistachio nut trees and custard apples. The city council in office at the time, was not interested and so was lost a square of unusual beauty.

One of the most interesting parts of the station, says Mrs. Pierce was an open square hedged with the Kie-apple which is used in Africa to form corrals around homes. Thorns on the plant grow inward as the hedge is trimmed and while it forms an impassible barrier yet it presents no unpleasant features on the exterior. Thorns were from four to five inches long. A Japanese persimmon tree with full bearing, the fruit is said to have a de-

WELFARE WORK IN FULLERTON TOLD

FULLERTON, Sept. 10. — All churches and organization members of the Fullerton Welfare council attended the first meeting of the fall yesterday at the Welfare Center, 207 West Commonwealth avenue, where plans were made for the winter work.

Mrs. Jessie Evans, director, said that August had been a particularly heavy month, and said she anticipates a grave need this winter due to many families coming westward from the drought areas. Eighteen members of the board made their plans for preparing clothing, bedding and food for distribution. Mrs. Marian Malone presided.

Police News

At request of Scottie's Malt shop employees shortly after midnight last night, Officers Charles Neer and Ralph Patuso investigated report that men were acting suspiciously in the vicinity. The officers reported "everything was all right."

Little Johnnie Seibe, 1008 North Parton, was on the city police department's "lost boy" list for several hours yesterday. Mrs. J. M. Campbell, 1708 North Flower, reported the boy in her neighborhood at 10:45 a.m. At 1 p.m., Johnnie was safe at home again with his mother, Mrs. A. S. Seibe.

It wasn't a stolen car that Chief John Stanton, Tustin, found in a Tustin driveway yesterday. Santa Ana police learned after checking license number records at Sacramento. The car was registered to Charles Aubrey, realtor, of 509 South Sycamore, who explained that his son had left the car in the driveway after he ran out of gasoline.

A 1936 Ford sedan belonging to E. W. Hoag, Box 243, Garden Grove, and reported stolen from its parking place on Sycamore between Sixth and Seventh last evening, was recovered at 1 a.m. today by Officers W. B. Moreland and L. C. Rogers. The car was found on Bush street between Third and Fourth.

Berger Forsdel, 31, Hollywood, arrested by Newport Beach police on a charge of vagrancy, was beginning a 15-day jail term here today, following conviction at Newport Beach.

Chancey D. Drake, 22, 432 Pearl street, El Modena, was jailed last night by Constable William Skillman on a warrant charging him with failure to support a minor child. Judge H. I. Spence, Fullerton justice court, set bail at $100.

Convicted of driving drunk, Alex Muro, 23, 719 Lacy street, Santa Ana, today began serving a 50-day term in Orange county jail.

Earl Gallier, 19, Upland, apprehended by Santa Ana Officer E. L. Grouard last Friday night after allegedly attempting to burglarize the cafe at the Arches, was brought from Newport Beach jail yesterday and booked at Orange county jail on a burglary charge. Gallier's alleged partner was still being sought today. Judge D. J. Dodge, Costa Mesa, set bail at $500. Gallier assertedly confessed the burglary attempt.

icious flavor and is purple when ripe.

At one time, Mrs. Pierce says, there were at the station, 10,000 small Queensland nut trees, many of which are to be found in this vicinity. Mrs. Pierce lived in Santa Ana from the time she was a small girl and she was the daughter of the late Dr. John M. Lacy, pioneer Santa Ana physician. Her son also Newton Pierce, who taught at Northwestern college for some years, is now at Princeton where he is to receive his doctor's degree.

HALE PAXTON GIVEN PATENT BY GOVERNMENT

A Santa Ana inventor, and a Long each inventor were issued patents today, according to an announcement by the United States Patent Office.

Hale Paxton of Santa Ana, was allowed two claims for originality in the conception of his clean out mechanism. Paxton made application for a patent on April 25, 1934. He has assigned his patent right to the Paxton Credit Corporation of Santa Ana.

Edmund Gurney, the Long Beach inventor, was allowed credit for one original idea in his invention in drawers. Gurney filed patent application January 25, 1935, but has so far made no assignment of his invention.

REGISTRATION OF SOPHOMORE CLASS TONIGHT

Operating under an entirely different registration system, sophomore students with surnames from A to E inclusive will register tonight from 7 to 9 p. m. for first semester classes of the 1936-37 Santa Ana Junior college year.

This new method to be employed is expected to make it easier for both college officials and the students themselves in securing the classes they want.

Tomorrow morning those from F to N inclusive will register at College hall from 8 to 11 a. m., with the remaining students coming in the afternoon from 1 to 4 p. m.

Freshmen students with surnames from A to E will assemble at College hall Friday night from 7 to 9 p. m. Those students from O to Z will register the following afternoon from 1 to 4 p. m., with those coming between F and N visiting the campus Monday morning from 8 to 11 a. m.

First day classes will convene Tuesday, Sept. 15, it was announced. During this registration process both sophomores and freshmen will have the opportunity to secure their Associated Student tickets entitling them to athletic contests, social events, and other worthwhile college activities.

At the same time frosh will receive their bibles and beanies which are to be carried and worn for a certain period after college opens.

Young People To Plan Year's Work

WINTERSBURG, Sept. 10. — Members of the high school age Queen Esther group of the Wintersburg Methodist church met Tuesday evening at the library to plan the coming year's work but owing to the absence of several members this feature was postponed until next meeting when pledges will be made and details for the work outlined.

The girls and their leader, Mrs. W. F. Slater had a social hour with refreshments of cookies and punch served.

Those present were Mrs. Slater, Juanita Troop, Wanda May Troop, Alice Slater, Irma Dotson, Betty Dotson, Betty Applebury, Pauline Applebury, Naomi Stinson.

LIST COSTS TO J. C. STUDENTS IN SANTA ANA

How much does it cost to go to junior college?

That query is heard frequently on the Santa Ana jaycee campus these days as 300 freshmen endeavor to arrange class programs for the fall semester.

According to Director D. K. Hammond of the Don institution, fees are about one-half what they are at the University of California.

The only fixed charges include a 50 cent fee for physical education which includes laundry and bathing suit service, and the cost of textbooks.

A survey completed last year among 400 students revealed that the average jaycee student spent from $18 to $25 a year for books. "And this can be reduced to approximately $10 per year if second-hand texts are secured," Mr. Hammond said.

No tuition fee is charged at the local junior college as all students residing in the jaycee district are admitted free. Student books which sell this year for $7 admit to all athletic contests and give the holder copies of all publications, including a copy of the college yearbook. Purchase of the student book is not compulsory but entitles the student to a large discount on the various items included, Mr. Hammond stated.

Ship's Cargo Tells Secret Of Betrothal

Small silver ships as favors last night at a social meeting of Edison Women's committee, bore with their cargoes of mints, parchment scrolls revealing the engagement of the hostess, Miss Irene Marie Drott to Alfred A. McLean of Bakersfield.

It was in Miss Drott's home, 621 North Pomona avenue, Fullerton, that the party was staged as a sequel to one of the committee's programmed "plant visits" in this case to the Pacific Citrus Products company, Ltd., in Fullerton. Return to the Drott home was followed by a musical program. Louis Dharce played accordion solos, "La Golondrina" and "Espanola," Roger Ledlin with his sister, Miss Velma Ledlin, as accompanist, played saxophone numbers, "Valse Marilynn" and "Rubinola," Dorothy Woodward, with Zella Stevenson as accompanist, sang "A Rendezvous With a Dream" and "When Day is Done," and the "Arkansas Ramblers," Ralph Boyles and Elmer Bostright, sang a medley of songs with guitar accompaniment.

An interval of bridge and coffee followed, with bridge prizes awarded Miss Elizabeth Miller and Mrs. Lela McDane Hughes, and coffee prizes won by Miss Ledlin and Mrs. Maude McLean.

News Is Told
In the patio where petit fours, pecan ice cream roll and coffee were served, romance was given full sway. Blue bowls and matching candlesticks were used for the asters and white taper flanking a stately white ship centerpiece. The ship motif was repeated in the design of blue and white glass used, and in the silver ship favors. The parchment scrolls, with the mints cargoes were lettered "Irene and Andy," October 23. Miss Drott's sister, Mrs. Grace Harman, and Mrs. Hattie Talcott assisted in serving.

Miss Drott was gowned in blue silk formal with a corsage bouquet sent by her fiancé. He had sent flowers also for her assistant hostesses, Miss Theresa Nussbaum, who wore sheer print in orchid tones, and for Mrs. Mary Belle Adams. Mrs. A. L. Drott and Mrs. Maude McLean, mothers of the affianced couple, were present. Mrs. Drott wearing a lace-trimmed blue crepe and Mrs. McLean in delphinium blue crepe with deep blue trimming. Other special guests in addition to members of the Edison Women's committee were:

Nuptials Occur Today In Marcy Ranch Gardens

Four-thirty o'clock this afternoon will see the hour set for the marriage of Miss Donna L. Leake, daughter of Albert Leake of the Marcy Ranch and Leonard M. Gauntlett of Los Angeles, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gauntlett of London, England.

Gardens of the Marcy ranch were chosen as setting for the quiet ceremony, with the Rev. Calvin Duncan, pastor of Tustin Presbyterian church as officiating minister.

The bride's costume was of green crepe, worn with brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Kirk Sinclair as best man was the only attendant.

The bridegroom and bride will leave tonight for a honeymoon trip of unannounced destination, planning to establish their home at 1254 Richard Place, Glendale. Mr. Gauntlett, who is assistant secretary and treasurer of the Square D Electrical corporation in Glendale is a thirty-second degree Mason and a Shriner. Mrs. Gauntlett, a registered nurse, is a graduate of University of California at Los Angeles, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity.

Club Past Presidents Enjoy Quarterly Session

Past Presidents' club members of Woman's club of Santa Ana were brought together for one of their quarterly sessions yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. H. Kuhn, 526 North Artesia street. On the hostess committee with Mrs. Kuhn were Mrs. George Mosbaugh, Mrs. Anna Gale, Mrs. C. F. Crose and Mrs. Jacob Bohlander.

Mrs. J. D. Watkins, who with Mrs. Watkins will leave September 12 for a three weeks' trip to Cleveland, Ohio, was presented with gifts including handkerchiefs and a box of candied nuts.

Mrs. Gale conducted a short business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Isadora Finney, who has been ill. Plans were made to hold the next session in January, 1937, with Mrs. R. G. Carman as hostess.

The hostess committee served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. Guests included Mesdames C. H. Stanley, Ruth Tiffany, Lovisa Leslie, M. C. Williams, William Whitehead, J. D. Watkins, R. G. Carman and Dr. Evalene Peo.

Couple Wed at Quiet Chapel Ceremony
Miss Mary Yost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Yost, 725 South Flower street, and Elmer E. Hoots of this city exchanged nuptial vows Tuesday afternoon, September 8 in Santa Ana Wedding chapel.

Four-thirty o'clock was the hour for the ceremony, read by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss of the chapel. The bride wore a poudre blue crepe frock with white accessories. She was attended by her sister, Miss Frances Yost, gowned in orchid chiffon with white costume details.

The newly-married couple will live at 1027 Custer street.

men's committee, were Mesdames Carrie Atkins, Douglas Hankins, Hattie Talcott, the Misses Velma Ledlin, Dorothy Woodward, Zella Stevenson, Fullerton, Mrs. Lela Landin, Anaheim, and Mrs. Lela McDanel Hughes and tiny daughter, Joanne, of Avenal.

Miss Drott is sales specialist in the Santa Ana office of the Edison company. Both she and her fiancé attended Fullerton Junior college and Mr. McLean is with the General Petroleum company in Bakersfield, where the young couple will make their home.

Young Couple Honeymoon In Sequoia Park

Now honeymooning at Sequoia National Park from where they will return to the home awaiting them in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Harold West will be greeted upon arrival by congratulations of a host of friends on their wedding of Thursday evening, September 8.

It was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sutton, Newport Road and La Colima avenue, Lemon Heights, that the marriage of Mrs. Sutton's niece, Miss Goldie Hughes, and Harold West occurred. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. R. Hughes of Olive, Mrs. Henry L. West, 827 South Walnut avenue, Anaheim.

Lovely Setting
Only members of the two family circles were assembled for the services, read by the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of Fullerton Presbyterian church in which Mr. West and his parents hold membership. Vows were exchanged by the young couple in a strikingly lovely setting afforded by the wide landscape window of the living room, filled with white roses and ferns glowing in the light of many candles.

Miss Hughes, given in marriage by her brother, Dwight Hughes, wore a formal gown of heavy white satin sweeping in a long train. Her finger-ring veil was banded across her hair and caught with pearls and clusters of orange blossoms. She carried orchids wreathed with lilies of the valley and wore a strand of pearls as her only ornament.

Following the wedding service was a reception during which Mrs. Sutton had the assistance of Mrs. C. S. Bennett, a close family friend, in serving light fruit punch and bride's and bridegroom's cakes. The dining table was spread with an Italian outwork banquet cloth and centered with delicate pink and white phlox and breath of heaven. There in flower like flickered about the room. As the guests enjoyed the refreshments many of them strolled to the adjoining patio with its colored lights and its flowers in gay hand-decorated pots.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. West left for their honeymoon trip the bride was wearing a smart tailored suit in brown with squirrel trimming, and all brown dress accessories. The orchids from her bridal bouquet formed her shoulder corsage.

Mr. West majored in electrical engineering at University of California at Los Angeles, and is now working with the Los Angeles Light and Power Bureau. The bride graduated from Orange Union "High school."

Roads Provide Theme For Club Program

Opening their activities for the year with a program on Roads, Pierian club members were guests of Mrs. Jacob Bohlander, 1001 West Pine street. Bowls of roses West Pine street, ovals of roses added to the attractiveness of the rooms.

Mrs. George Bond opened the program with two contributions, "A Magic Road" and "A Best Loved Road." Mrs. Earl Ladd read "The Road from School," and revealed that several of her verses have been accepted for publication in the magazine "Visions."

"Life's Highway" and "The Road Before You" were offered by Mrs. J. F. Jacoby. Mrs. Bohlander read "The Road to Content," Mrs. H. W. Guthrie gave a description of a journey, which she titled "Gypsy Trails."

Original examples of iambic and trochaic meter were given by various members.

Mrs. Bohlander concluded her hospitality by serving sandwiches, ices and cakes at small tables.

The next meeting will be held October 22 in the home of Mrs. Jacoby, 125 East Pomona street.

United Presbyterian

Mrs. Bruce Gibson, Mrs. Martha Miller and Mrs. Louis Endres were on the committee in charge of a luncheon served to precede the latest meeting of United Presbyterian Missionary society in the church.

Miss Minnie Cowan was chairman of a program on "Christian Home," giving a short talk on the subject. The Misses Lucille and Mildred Cowan sang a solo and duet numbers, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Henderson.

Mrs. Mary Herring read a paper on the day's subject.

Business matters of the afternoon were in charge of Mrs. W. S. Kennedy.

Rich Fall Shades Lend Charm to Wedding Details

Rich fall shades in altar decorations and in the costumes worn by the bride's attendants added to the beauty of a ceremony at which Miss Katherine Prizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Prizer of Fullerton, and William Daniel Kuhns Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Kuhns of Fullerton were wedded Tuesday evening in this city.

Santa Ana Wedding chapel was setting for the eight o'clock rites, read by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss in the presence of 70 guests. Bud Wagner of Placentia and Donald Hobbs of Fullerton were ushers. Mr. Wagner also playing several piano selections in advance of the ceremony.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Prizer, of San Diego, played The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin (Wagner) and "Impromptu" (Schubert) as the wedding marches.

Mr. Prizer gave his daughter in marriage. Her quaintly lovely gown of white tulle was fitted at the waist, and fashioned with leg o'mutton sleeves and long full skirt. Her finger-ring veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms. Arranged in Colonial style was her bouquet of gardenias with its frill of lilies of the valley.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Kenneth Chesley of Long Beach as matron of honor; Miss Barbara Prizer of Fullerton, maid of honor; Miss Betty Hampton and Miss Virginia Moffett, Fullerton, bridesmaids. Eloquent of the styles of yesterday were their frocks with elaborate pleating on shoulder caplets and skirt flounces. The gowns ranged in shades from the burnt orange of Mrs. Chesley's attire to lighter shades of the same tone.

Colonial bouquets carried by the four charming attendants were of sweet peas and gladioli. The flowers blended with the rich tones of the gowns, as did the blossoms banked at the altar where yellow and orange pompon chrysanthemums and gladioli were interspersed with white asters.

Jack Stiles of Orange was best man.

The newly-married couple and their parents formed a receiving line near the wishing well on the chapel grounds, after which they went to the Prizer home in Fullerton for a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuhns left for San Francisco where they will spend their honeymoon before going to Berkeley to make their home. The bridegroom is superintendent of an experimental station for Del Monte Food corporation. He attended Fullerton High school and University of California, Berkeley, as did the bride, who also studied at Fullerton Junior college.

B. P. W. Members Receive New Bulletin

Newest of publications in the interest of Business and Professional Women, is the Southern District Bulletin, whose opening number has reached members of Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club.

Miss Phoebe Allen of San Diego club is editor of the Bulletin whose opening number contains a message from the district president, Miss Dana Williams of Ontario; the statement of budget and estimated income, and an article on the newly organized motion picture committee by the committee chairman, Louise C. Balmer.

Miss Williams in her letter, introduces the Bulletin as a suggestion of the district finance chairman, Louise Badger, with Miss Allen, district publicity chairman, as editor. The Bulletin will be issued in those months with no district meetings announced, which means four or five issues during the club year.

Attention also is called to the Hemet-San Jacinto district meeting scheduled for October 17 and 18, with individual clubs asked to plan for large representations.

Miss Williams furthermore asked clubs to remind their members of the Susan B. Anthony postage stamps issued August 26, and now on sale at the postoffice.

Delta Chi Sigmas to Open Rush Season

Delta Chi Sigma sorority members will be hostesses at a formal rush tea Sunday afternoon between the hours of three and five o'clock in the home of Miss Lois Wagner, 2046 North Flower street.

Miss Carol Smith will be chairman of the tea, which will come as the first of a series of rush events planned for the local chapter, of which Miss Marie McGinnis is president.

Plans for the tea were furthered Tuesday night when members met in the home of Mrs. Corwin Prazee, 910 1-2 West Myrtle street.

Engagement News Told As Prelude To Bridal Shower

Doubly romantic was the theme of the dessert bridge party at which Mrs. Ira D. Wallingford and her daughter, Miss Martha Wallingford, entertained last night in the W. G. Lewis home, 1916 North Flower street, for not only did they compliment one of the autumn's most popular brides, Miss Ruth Owens, fiancée of Ernest Stump, but took the opportunity to make formal announcement of Miss Wallingford's engagement to George Preble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel I. Preble, 1234 West Chestnut street.

No more delightful setting could be asked than the recently completed home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, and its charm was increased by the many flowers, pretty party appointments and the formal costumes of the guests.

Modish Costumes
Mrs. Wallingford received in a gown of black crepe with beaded trimming with which she wore white pompon dahlias. Miss Wallingford also wore the tiny white dahlias with her smart jacket frock of black starched lace. Miss Owens chose a formal shirtmaker style in navy blue and her mother, Mrs. Ira J. Owens, was in vivid King's blue crepe with Talisman roses pinned to her shoulder.

Mrs. Ernest Stump, mother of Miss Owens' fiancé, chose a black crepe with effective coat of white starched lace. Mrs. Lewis wore flowers with her deep red crepe, and Mrs. Preble, who made her appearance after the engagement announcement, appeared in burgundy crepe. Her corsage bouquet, like those worn by others in the receiving line, was the gift of her son.

When seated for the dessert course served at small tables, guests speedily found the significance of the occasion, for cleverly folded place cards unfolded to reveal the message, "Martha and George; November." The charm of the tables, all in white linen centered with woven baskets of vivid small asters and zinnias, almost went unnoticed in the excitement of the romantic news.

Prizes and Gifts
In the bridge contest which followed, Mrs. Lewis with high score was rewarded with a charming botany print while a set of coasters and a clock napkins was presented to Mrs. Donald Plumb, the former Miss Helen Spangler, a recent bride. Presentation of prizes was signal for the culminating event of the evening, a miscellaneous shower for Miss Owens who received silver, crystal, linens - in fact, everything imaginable for her future home. These will all come into service after the wedding which is scheduled for this coming Sunday afternoon.

Among guests to whom the betrothal news was told and who joined with interest in the gift shower, Mrs. Wallingford and Miss Wallingford included with their honoree, Miss Owens, her mother and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Ira J. Owens, and Mrs. Ernest Stump, Mrs. W. G. Lewis, Mrs. Samuel I. Preble, Miss Dorothy Preble, Miss Eleanor Baird, Miss Marcia Huber, Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mrs. Horace J. Howard, Mrs. Maurice Enderle, Mrs. Edward Adams, Miss Betty Wiswall, Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, Mrs. Frank Hilligass, Mrs. Pindley Walker, Mrs. Manley Natland, Mrs. G. Calumpit Auxiliary Coming as a feature of a meeting of Calumpit Auxiliary Sewing circle yesterday in the home of Mrs. Effie Hawley, 517 Cypress avenue, was a celebration of the birthday anniversary of Forrest Gay. Birthday cake was served as the last course of a covered-dish luncheon.

On the committee in charge of the affair with Mrs. Hawley were Mesdames Edna Hannah, Odella Markwalder, Myrtle Brown and Jean Tantlinger. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Gay, Colonel J. Lewis, Mesdames Ada Treat, May Glaze, Bertha Dixon, Bertha Helmer, Marie Lindquist, Frank Rowe, Elizabeth Erickson, all of this community; and Mrs. Charles Kincaid, Oceanside.

Calumpit auxiliary entertained with the first of a series of parties for members and guests last night in Knights of Columbus hall. Refreshments were served at the close of the pleasant affair.

The music of "America" also is the music of the national anthem of the British Empire, Denmark and Switzerland.

Various games were played, with prizes going to Lois Bogardus, Patsy Johnson and Betty Lee Mills. There were many birthday gifts for the happy celebrant.

Deauville umbrellas shaded tables which were set outdoors, with green and pink appointments including nut cups and favors. Birthday cake lighted with candles was served with ice cream and other dainties. Mrs. Marvin Morrison assisted the hostess at this time.

Mrs. Morrison's son, Jerry Blake Morrison, spent the afternoon with Kenneth Elton Ranum, son of the home. In the party group with Betty Lou were Mary Juden, Lois Bogardus, Betty Jean McCully, Jacqueline Townsend, Shirley Heaston, Betty Lee Mills, Jerry Thompson, Patsy Johnson, Eleanor DuRall, Gloria Mendenhall, this city; Genevieve Wright, Corona del Mar.

Playmates Attend Tenth Birthday Party
Celebrating her tenth birthday anniversary yesterday, Miss Betty Lou Ranum was honoree at an afternoon party which had its setting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ranum, 1229 South Garney street.

Various games were played, with prizes going to Lois Bogardus, Patsy Johnson and Betty Lee Mills. There were many birthday gifts for the happy celebrant.

Club Hostesses Plan Various Interests For Evening

With the Misses Evelyn Hunton and Alberta Sanford planning as hostesses, last night's meeting of Tau Delta Phi club members was a very pleasant event in the home of Miss Hunton, 1018 West Sixth street.

There was a brief excursion from the party scene when guests went in a group to the Palmer Stoddard home, 526 West Nineteenth street, to express with flowers, their pleasure in Mrs. Stoddard's return from St. Joseph hospital where she underwent an appendectomy.

Much of the entertainment of the evening was derived from a Sally Anne MacDuff, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claire MacDuff, who accompanied her mother to the party and was quite the center of interest so long as she remained awake.

Welcome was accorded Mrs. Paul Johnson who arrived recently from Modesto to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, 421 South Broadway.

After the hostesses had served an inviting salad course at flower-centered small tables, they lingered about the tables for informal bridge play, interrupted only with the presentation of a bridal gift to Mrs. Gordon Cudworth (Evelyn Chandler). The club had chosen a range set in the popular Poppy Trail design of pottery.

Miss Hunton and Miss Sanford had as guests, Mrs. Claire MacDuff and baby daughter, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. Ernest Hill, Miss Norma Wilson, Mrs. Gordon Cudworth and Mrs. Wayne Bartholomew.

Chat and Sew Club Has Pleasant Event

Chat and sew club members were brought together for another of their pleasant sessions Tuesday evening when Mrs. C. E. Wood was hostess in her home, 820 North Batavia street, Orange. Sunny mari-golds provided decorations for the occasion.

Members were happy to learn that one of their group, Mrs. Wilbur Woods had returned to her home from California. Lutheran hospital, where she had undergone a major operation some time ago.

The hostess served refreshments at the close of an evening of sewing. Her guests were Mesdames Harvey Emley, Garden Grove; Dale Griggs, T. R. Nail and John J. Vernon, Santa Ana; Carl Pister, Emley Campbell, V. O. Estes, Irvin Frevert, Oliver Wickersheim, Earl G. Smith, Lloyd Doncaster, Edwin Wescott and Miss Edna Case, Orange.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Campbell.

Julia Lathrop P. T. A. will open its activities for the new year with a dinner meeting Friday, September 25, according to plans made yesterday afternoon when executive board members met in the home of the president, Mrs. Rufus Bond, 517 South Ross street.

Plans were made to invite Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson and Mrs. Henderson, and board of education members to the opening meeting.

Programs for the year were distributed by Mrs. J. P. Wallace, who also provided program outlines for the president to send to Fourth District P. T. A. and to California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Bond's daughter, Miss Eugenia Bond, served refreshments to the guests, who included H. G. Nelson, principal of the school; Mrs. Forrest Menzie, first vice-president; Mrs. Ernest Ashland, president; Mrs. Leonard Musick, parliamentarian; Mrs. Wallace, program; Mrs. T. E. Lord, publicity.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Invited to a dinner party Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Nellie Carpenter, 1668 Palm street, guests were surprised to learn that the occasion marked the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Carpenter.

However, a surprise was in store for the celebrant, whose co-hostess, Miss Marie Rash, had provided a decorated birthday cake to be served with the dessert course of the delicious dinner. Pink roses centered the table where guests were seated.

Since old friends had been brought together for the affair, the time was spent in chatting and in playing entertaining games. Sharing the affair with the co-hostesses, Mrs. Carpenter and Miss Rash were Mesdames George M. Ramsey, Ada Belle Cope, George Perry, C. H. Rash, Anna Boland, Clara Whitaker, I. Tucker, N. A. Walker, Chester Hall, Charles Garrett, L. Heath, E. L. Purvis; the Misses Julia Carter and Geneva Sweetser.

You and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cox, 423 South Ross street have returned from Banning, where they spent several days with relatives.

Miss Marjorie Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Matthews, 319 East Seventeenth street, who underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday morning in St. Joseph hospital, is reported getting along nicely. It will be several days before she is able to receive visitors.

Mrs. Elizabeth Good has returned to her home in Altadena after a four weeks' stay in this city with her granddaughter, Mrs. John J. Vernon, and Mr. Vernon and their daughters, Betty Louise, Mary and Peggy, 2020 Santiago avenue. Mrs. Good has rejoined her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sholly of Altadena, who have returned from an extensive trip to the Atlantic coast and up into Canada.

Mrs. A. H. Worswick, 725 Mortimer street is spending two weeks in San Francisco with her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thamos Hill. The Hills' little son, Larry, who has been undergoing special treatment while kept in an incubator in the hospital in which he was born one month ago, is reported doing nicely. He now weighs five pounds. Mr. Hill's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill of this city expects to visit in the north next month. Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, also of the Mortimer street address, is spending a week in Glendale. Miss Bernice Boyd, 412 East Chestnut street, left yesterday afternoon for Los Angeles to spend the remainder of the week with her sister, Mrs. Rowe, before the opening of the fall term of school recalls her to her duties as a member of the Lowell teaching staff.

Miss Ruth Armstrong, 1003 North Broadway, left this morning by automobile for a week's combined business and pleasure trip to San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint W. Dozier and son, Ronald, 1217 South Van Ness avenue, spent Sunday and Monday in Pomona with Mr. Dozier's parents. The Santa Anas had just returned from a two weeks' vacation trip to Vancouver, B. C., making stops at Crater Lake, Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash. Accompanying them north were Mrs. Dozier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Martin, 319 Beverly Place.

SCEPTRE CHAPTER O. E. S. WILL MEET

ORANGE, Sept. 10.—Sceptre Chapter O. E. S. will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic hall.

Miss Ellen Suffern, who is on a furlough from her missionary work in China, will be the guest speaker and will tell of her experiences in the missionary field for the past seven years. Miss Suffern will have with her many curios which she brought with her from China.

Worthy Matron Gwendolyn Thompson and Worthy Patron C. I. Thomas will preside at the business session.

Refreshments will be served by a committee consisting of Mrs. E. H. Smith, chairman, and Mesdames C. O. Powell, Roy Buckles, Dan Gruwell and Henry Campbell.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS STAGE LUNCHEON

ORANGE, Sept. 10.—Royal Neighbors held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the I. O. O. F. hall, featured by a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. Murley Harrison headed the hostess committee and assisting her were Mesdames Josephine Rhodes, Mabel Lee, Gladys McDonald, Laura Wilson, Ella Simmenaker and Belle Condon.

Mrs. Grace Durfee presided in the place of the oracle, Mrs. Anna Linnartz, who is out of town for the week. Mrs. Lydia Kramer, of Cheney, Kans., transferred her membership from the Royal Neighbors' lodge of that city to the Orange lodge. The charter was draped in memory of the late Mrs. Eva Braden.

VISIT WITH TRAVELERS

Mrs. Iva Weber, 425 South Ross street, returned this morning from Los Angeles, where she had spent the past few days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Kellogg, just home from their European tour.

Arriving in Canada late in August after their trip to Europe, the Kelloggs continued to Detroit, where they took delivery of a new car and made the trip home in five days. They were joined by Mrs. Weber Sunday night in the drive from this city to their home in Los Angeles.

Last night the Kelloggs entertained a little group of guests, displaying many interesting objects brought from abroad, and screening some of the motion pictures they had taken in foreign lands.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg, both of whom are teachers in the Los Angeles schools, and Mrs. Weber, dean of girls at Julia Lathrop Junior High school in this city, spent Tuesday attending teachers' institute in Los Angeles.

ORANGE WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS ACTIVITIES; MEET SEPT. 21

ORANGE, Sept. 10.—Many activities have been planned by the Orange Woman's club for the year and the club will hold its first session September 21 in newly decorated clubrooms which include new stage settings. The program for the initial meeting is to be announced shortly by Mrs. E. H. Smith, program chairman. Mrs. W. F. Kogler heads the club as president.

With the exception of the Second and Economics section which has continued its meetings throughout the summer, other sections of the club will not begin the year's work until after the general club meets. The Garden section, one of the largest garden groups in the county, with Mrs. Perry Groat as leader, will meet September 22 in Recreation park, Long Beach, where a nursery will be visited following a covered dish dinner at noon.

The First Toastmasters section will meet on September 23 and it is expected programs somewhat similar to those carried out by the group since organizing will be presented the coming year. The "baby" section of the club, the Second Toastmasters section under the leadership of Mrs. L. F. Douglas, was organized late in the spring and members will meet second and fourth Fridays instead of second and fourth Thursdays, dates set last year.

Mrs. J. T. McInnis has resigned as advisor of the Junior Women's club and a new advisor is to be selected by the executive board. Miss Barbara Craemer is president of the group of young women. The first Economics section will continue to meet on the first Tuesday of each month and the Third Economics section on the Third Tuesday.

With the resignation of Frank Pierce as director, the Woman's club chorus is selecting a new director under whom a number of important programs will be presented.

One of the more important events for the club will be held September 26 when the Junior Matrons section will sponsor a fashion show and afternoon of entertainment at the clubhouse. Mrs. Henry Walsworth is president and Mrs. George E. Peterson, chairman of the ways and means committee is in charge.

DOUGLAS SPEAKER AT 20-30 MEETING

ORANGE, Sept. 10.—Meeting for a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the Sunshine Broller cafe last evening, members of the 20-30 club had as their speaker, T. P. Douglas, garage proprietor. President Donald Guldage turned the meeting over to program chairman, Ernest Hagen, who introduced the speaker.

Douglas' topic was "Streamlined Thinking," in which he urged the necessity of thinking for oneself, forgetting past prejudices and thinking clearly and precisely, in other words, in a "streamlined" manner.

A communication was received from V. G. Wolfe, local Twenty-Thirdian, who has been attending the national convention of 20-30 clubs held at Stockton from September 3-6, inclusive, in which Wolfe stated that Lloyd Buchler, of Sacramento, was elected president of the national association, and Ralph Layton, of Fullerton, was elected vice president. Both young men have been active workers on the board of trustees for the past several years.

VETERAN REBEKAHS IN LUNCHEON EVENT

ORANGE, Sept. 10.—A covered dish luncheon and an afternoon spent at needlework and knitting marked a meeting of Veteran Rebekahs held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Addie Lucy of Placentia. Tables were centered with beautiful bouquets of asters when luncheon was served in the dining room. Guests enjoyed a visit to Mrs. Lucy's lath house and begonia garden.

Those present other than the hostesses, Mrs. Lucy, Mrs. Anna Heitshusen, Mrs. Anna Linnartz and Mrs. Elizabeth Meats were Mesdames Anna Crawford, Ida E. Davis, Anna Christianson, Millie Bomby, Abbie Gould, Myrtle Kingley, Kittle Williams, Elizabeth Viard, Ida Campbell, C. W. Pulley, Hattie Bennett and Leah Jacobs.

Mrs. Bomby presided at a brief business session.

WATER CARNIVAL OPENS TOMORROW

ORANGE, Sept. 10.—The first water carnival with the crowning of King Neptune and other features will open tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the city park swimming pool. Events Friday evening will include a band concert by the Orange County Federal Music project. The carnival will close Saturday. First, second and third class ribbons are to be awarded. It is expected that 100 awards will be made.

F. V. SCHWEITZER GETS STATE POST

F. Vernon Schweitzer, former Santa Ana resident, has been appointed statistician in the welfare department of the state of California, according to work received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Schweitzer, 1315-A South Main street.

Schweitzer, who took over his duties at Sacramento on the first of September, is the first one to hold the statistician position in the California Welfare department.

Following extensive study in economics at the University of Southern California, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree, Schweitzer was connected with the Unemployment Insurance commission at Queensland, Australia, from 1930-33. Working toward his doctor's degree Schweitzer took graduate work at the University of Berlin. He is author of two studies published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor concerning the unemployment conditions in Australia.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Schweitzer, have lived in Santa Ana for 10 years.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

A certain old castle in southern France is surrounded by a high guardian wall which was designed to protect the residents from invaders in the days when warring factions were likely to attack one another at any time. A massive gate in the wall had in the center of it a spade-shaped area studded with bolt-heads numbering 87.

A curious visitor one day wondered how many squares could be made with a bolt-head at each corner of each square. He finally discovered the number.

What was it?

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

Cowboy of South America

STATUES and stamps honor the character of the typical South American who helped develop that continent and liberate it from Spanish tyranny. He is the "gaucho," the cowboy who not only tended cattle, but was trapper, hunter, and pioneer over the broad pampas of South America. The gaucho is a survival of Spanish colonial days. Son of a Spanish father and Indian mother, he was more white than Indian, and became the pioneer of white civilization in the plains of Uruguay and Argentina.

When word of revolution spread through the land in 1810, the gaucho was first to take up arms, load his horse with food and ammunition, and join the patriot armies. For more than a decade he fought, and finally gained independence. Today, he is the chief element in the agricultural development of Uruguay and Argentina.

Uruguay honors her gaucho in a regular stamp of 1895, and an air-mail stamp of 1925. The former type is shown here.

SERVICE CLUB HEARS ADDRESS ON CONFERENCE

Santa Ana Lions today heard what their president, Rola Hays Jr., termed one of the outstanding addresses of the year, when Dr. Charles Martin, professor of political science at the University of Washington, gave a resume of the recent Conference of International relations at Yosemite National park.

Dr. Martin, who attended schools in Santa Ana, is recognized throughout Europe and the Pacific nations for his ability as a political scientist. At the last Geneva conference, Dr. Martin represented the United States as a delegate.

In his address today, Dr. Martin outlined the various discussions that took place at the recent Yosemite conference. Some of the highlights gleaned from the session were that the NRA was of great benefit to other countries, and that they suffered actual business losses when the NRA was abandoned; the administration's silver purchase policy has been detrimental to all countries with the exception of Canada, where there are extensive silver mining operations; the AAA, combined with the drought, has been of vast benefit to Canada.

Japan's ability to export goods and sell them in foreign countries cheaper than those countries can sell goods themselves is based on the fact that the Japanese government subsidizes industry. Dr. Martin said. The speaker also reported that the Russian delegate to the conference stated that the Soviet government has no desire to "export communism to other countries, and absolutely will not allow the importation of capitalism."

"As a result of the conference," Dr. Martin said, "we have come to the conclusion that the East is East and the West is West, and never the twain shall meet. The only solution to the problems of the Pacific is to arrange for a series of Washington conferences to rearrange treaties in accordance with the changing times."

SUPERVISORS SEEK NEW RELIEF PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 10.—(UP)—A definite movement to throw overboard all emergency unemployment relief programs and substitute a broad, permanent relief setup was launched today at a meeting sponsored by the California Supervisors' association.

Meeting with the supervisors, representatives of the state chamber of commerce, farm bureau federation, the California Taxpayers association and the Economic Council of Southern California agreed to cooperate in a program to be presented to the 1937 state legislature. Financing of such an unemployment relief setup, it was agreed, should be proportionate to the federal, state and county governments on a basis comparable to present financing of the state's old age security act.

STANTON SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY

STANTON, Sept. 10.—Both schools of the district, Stanton and Savanna will open for the fall term Monday.

The teaching staff at the first school includes Mrs. Twila Reid, principal; Mrs. Lola Stanley, Mrs. Lola Jewell, Miss Betty Gould, and C. Carver.

Savanna instructors are Mrs. Helene Schuerman, principal; Miss Nina Duden, intermediate grades; and Mrs. Dorothy Dennis, primary grades.

In addition to the construction of the new unit of the Stanton school, routine improvements have been made in both buildings during the summer.

86 STILL AT FORGE
SIMCOE, N. D. (UP)—Iver O. Solid, 86, and 77 years on the job, claims to be the oldest active blacksmith in the state—possibly in the Northwest.

Approximately 10,000 pounds of flowers are required for one pound of good scent concentrate.

Bourbons Name Clarence D. Martin

SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Clarence D. Martin was conceded a plurality of nearly 40,000 votes today over his two nearest rivals for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, as returns from Washington's "blanket primary" neared completion.

Gov. Martin defeated John C. Stevenson, liberal leader, and King county commissioner, and Otto Case, Townsend-supported state treasurer.

Former Governor Roland H. Hartley easily won the Republican nomination.

Democratic aspirants received a heavy majority of the votes in seven of the ten major state positions. Seven incumbents won the right to run for re-election in the ten offices. The election drew a record vote split among an unprecedented number of candidates.

'Y' BOYS' CLASS TO OPEN TUESDAY

Shoulder braces for boys will be provided at the Y. M. C. A. this fall, it was stated today by Secretary D. H. Tibbals, announcing his class for "Body Builders" which will start work next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"Nature provides shoulder braces," said Tibbals, "and all we have to do is to learn how to use them if we want to stand straight and grow tall. The exercises provided for the boys of our 'Body Builders' class are planned to help develop these and other important muscles which will help the boys to grow into fine physical specimens of manhood. We teach them to walk straight, to breathe deep, to stand and sit erect, in general to conduct themselves as to make the most of their health and appearance."

The work which Tibbals will give is intended for boys from eight or nine years of age up to 13 or 14. The class work includes half an hour of vigorous health exercise in the gymnasium, followed by half an hour of instruction in the swimming pool. Each boy is given a set of exercises for home use and he is expected to work daily at the exercises between lessons. Those who follow this course gain surprisingly good results in growth, health and posture, it was stated. The class will meet every Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

HELEN JACOBS AND FRANK PARKER WIN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(UP)—Helen Jacobs of Berkeley made one step nearer a successful defense of her National tennis championship today by scoring an easy victory over Gussie Raegener of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-0, to enter the semi-final round. Miss Jacobs will play Kay Stammers of England tomorrow.

Frankie Parker moved into the semi-finals of the men's division with a 10-12, 6-0, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, triumph over Gregory Mangin.

Murray Gives Data On Quake

OCEANVIEW, Sept. 10.—The rather severe earthquake felt in this vicinity at approximately 5:55 o'clock Tuesday morning is stated by Martin Murray, local amateur scientist who has a seismograph at his home in Boulevard Gardens, as coming from the identical location as the March 10, 1933 quake. The shock was approximately 10 miles due south of the location of the seismograph, according to recordings. No damage was done by the shock.

Motorist Jailed On Driving Count

Arrested on Grand avenue, Buena Park, at 10 o'clock last night by Deputy Sheriffs Ives Brown and Claude Potter, Floyd L. Richards, 34, 410 South Philadelphia, Anaheim, was jailed on a drunk driving charge. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail today.

Richards was driving the car of his friend, James Story, 61, 120 South Philadelphia, Anaheim, records show. Story, with Richards in the car, was charged with being drunk and fined $10.

CALIFORNIA'S HISTORY TOLD TOASTMASTERS

Honoring California under the theme of "The Thirty-first Star," Arthur J. Woodworth took first place in the speaking contest at the Toastmasters' club, Smedley chapter No. 1, Wednesday night, thus winning the privilege of having his name engraved on the permanent trophy of the club. He paid eloquent tribute to the history of the Golden State and was highly complimented on his effort.

The entire program was one of exceptional quality, presenting George DeRoulhac on "My Hobby," H. S. House on "California, the Wonderful State" in which the speaker gave humorous interpretations of the California climate and scenery, W. S. Phelps, in an amusing speech of advice to toastmasters in general, D. H. Tibbals, on "Live up to Your Name" and Le-Ray Quirk, on "If I Were a Dictator."

The latter speaker indicated the several drastic actions which he believed would promote safety and happiness and prosperity in the United States, including universal registration and finger printing of citizens and imprisonment or deportation of aliens illegally in the country.

James Anderson presided as toastmaster of the evening. Attending as interested visitors were William Hobbs, president of the Gavel club of Long Beach, and C. N. Bozarth, a member of that club.

MESA LIONS VISIT BIRD, GAME FARM

COSTA MESA, Sept. 10.—M. G. Elighney, owner of the local Bird and Game farm and member of the Lion's club, was host to fellow club members Tuesday at the regular weekly club meeting period. A trip through his farm with a short talk about the various rare birds and animals bred and reared there was given. Walter H. Foord was program chairman for the day.

Dinner was enjoyed at the dining rooms of the Bay Shore camp. Heinz Kaiser, also a local club member and owner of the camp, provided the dinner.

Guests of the club were Frank Harwood and Joe Peterson of Santa Ana and Louis Hoskins of Anaheim. A. L. Pinkley, the club president, was in charge.

Announcement was made that next week's program will be given under the auspices of the local American Legion post. The post adjutant, Robert C. Fisher, will act as master of ceremonies.

Police News

Chief of Police J. H. McClelland of Long Beach today reported by teletype to local sheriffs' officers that he had found the stolen truck of Miguel Hernandez, Los Alamitos, which had been abandoned in Long Beach. The truck was returned to its owner.

Accused by the federal government of forgery, and convicted, Gus Anyas, 32, Los Angeles, was booked at county jail by Deputy Marshal Frank Besser last night to begin serving a term of 60 days.

Arrested at Fourth and Spurgeon streets early today on a charge of being drunk, after officers found her allegedly sans all clothes but a short coat, Mrs. Eula Crozier, 38, who said she is an actress from Hollywood, appeared before Acting City Judge John Landell today and was sentenced to county jail for five days, records show.

County's Exhibit At Fair Wins Cups And Cash Prizes

Orange county's exhibit at the state fair in Sacramento has resulted in valuable publicity for Orange county products, according to word received by Agricultural Commissioner Dixon Tubbs today.

In a communication from Ray Starbuck, who is in charge of the exhibit, Tubbs was informed that prizes awarded by the state to Orange county as a result of the exhibit totaled over 400. The exhibit itself, in competition with those prepared by other counties, won sixth place honors.

In the citrus fruit class, the exhibit won first place and was awarded a cup and a $200 cash prize. Orange county also won first place in the Valencia orange and Eureka lemon competition. The exhibit was awarded second place in the Lisbon lemon and grapefruit competitions.

ESTIMATE OF CORN CROP LOW FOR YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The agriculture crop reporting board today forecast a 1936 corn crop of 1,458,295,000 bushels, smaller in more than 50 years, on the basis of Sept. 1 conditions. On August 1 the crop was estimated at 1,439,135,000 bushels.

Sept. 1 condition was estimated at 40.5 per cent of normal, compared with 46.8 Aug. 1, 67.3 last year and 51 per cent for the 10 years 1923-32.

The crop is the smallest since 1881 and is almost a billion bushels under the 2,291,629,000 bushel crop of 1935. In the drought year of 1934, the crop was 1,487,027,000 bushels. The 1928-32 average is 2,583,424,000 bushels.

SPEAKER TELLS OF CCC CAMP ACTIVITY

Life in a CCC camp was described by the Rev. Milton J. Wahl, former New England and midwestern minister now in the El Toro veterans camp, at the opening of a series of Wednesday evening discussions at the Unitarian church yesterday.

The veterans' CCC is a move toward the more abundant life and offers the nation a dramatic example of what can be done toward achieving a reasonably well integrated communal and individual life, the speaker said.

The next discussion, next Wednesday, will be led by County Welfare Director Byron Curry, who will give a general survey of work and problems of the department he heads.

These discussions are not open forums, it was explained by the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, minister.

STRIKER IS GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Severo Ornelas, who slugged M. A. Patterson, orchard guard, with a tire iron, during a strike disturbance July 6 on the Cooper ranch near Fullerton today was sentenced to San Quentin for a term of not less than five years, when Superior Judge James L. Allen denied his plea for probation.

A jury had convicted Ornelas of assault by means and force likely to produce great bodily harm.

After sentence had been pronounced today, his attorney, J. R. LeGallez, of San Bernardino, gave notice of appeal from judgment.

BOURBONS LEAD GOP IN ALASKA BALLOTS

JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Democratic candidates in Alaska's general election held two-to-one leads over Republicans, returns from the territory's larger cities indicated today.

Anthony J. Dimond, strong new deal supporter, forged far ahead of his Republican rival, Judge Lester Gore, in the contests for congressional delegate nominations.

Dimond and Gore based their campaign principally on the issue of abolition of fish traps.

Democratic candidates also were far in the lead for attorney general, auditor, legislature and other posts. Returns from outlying precincts, especially those far north in the Eskimo villages within the Arctic circle, will not be complete for several weeks, it was estimated.

SOCIAL MEETING ARRANGED BY Y.

Younger boys of the Y. M. C. A. will have their first social meeting of the season tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, it was announced today by Boys' Secretary Herbert Thomas.

The event is for the boys under 13 years of age, who are this year to be classed as "preps" and who will be given information about the fall schedule of classes and clubs. George Honore will be heard in accordance numbers and the boys will have a chance to do some group singing and for social games and refreshments.

Plans for the first father and son dinner, scheduled for the evening of September 21 will be announced and explained to the boys. The complete fall schedule of classes and clubs for boys will be initiated next week, with the opening of the public schools.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KAY DUNN, pretty young nurse, applies for a job as stewardess on Overland Airways. In the Overland office she encounters TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot of Trans-Pacific Airways, and, largely due to his intervention, is told she will be employed for a trial period, providing she passes the physical examination.

Kay hurries away and Graham strives to chat with his old friend, CHARLES BENTON, chief of the personnel department of Overland Airways. Graham, whose wife died 18 years before, has an adopted son, DICKIE, 7 years old.

Benton asks about Dickie and Graham says, "He's hard as nails. Like me. Doesn't need the feminine influence."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER II
BOTH men looked up when the second girl was admitted. Doris Lee came in swinging her arms at her sides. Her face was flushed and the secretary appeared behind her, protesting.

"It was my turn and I'm here!" Doris Lee said. "Now you run along and shuffle your papers, young man."

The determined young woman sat down in the chair Benton offered her. "That secretary of yours didn't want to let me in," she announced, "and it was my turn. The idea! He said I was excess baggage! So I said to him—"

Ted looked at her and laughed. Her cheeks were still flushed with wrath and indignation. She was pretty, with blond coloring and her figure was robust, but not too heavy for the job of stewardess on a plane. She had an air of being able to take care of herself.

"Name?"

"Doris Lee."

While the chief of the personnel department went over the details on her card, Doris went on talking, to much of which Benton did not listen. "And so one day I just got up and walked out of the hospital," she said. "I was fed up with the job."

"Just what were your duties at the hospital, Miss Lee?"

"Looking after the nuts!"

"Disorders?" Suddenly Doris slapped a hand on her lap, and laughed. "They were riots!"

Benton coughed discreetly, while the girl went on. "I never thought Doris Lee would spend two years playing tag with such a menagerie. There was one man who threatened every day to tear my tongue out. Said I talked too much and that I reminded him of his wife who drove him nuts. One day he actually got me by the throat—"

"Have you ever flown?" Benton put in hastily. "Have you had any experience in the air?"

"After the experiences I've had, flying in the air would be harmless. The way I feel now I could go hunt tigers. I'd slap them down like pussy cats! What I want is to get up in the air, where it's safe—"

TED laughed and said, "We need her on Trans-Pacific Airways when we are forced down on cannibal islands! Sorry we only have men on our crews."

"There's a run on one of our lines," Benton said thoughtfully, "where the planes are always

FORMAL TEA IS HELD TO HONOR MRS. AL REBOIN

MIDWAY CITY, Sept. 10.—A formal tea at which different groups of guests were invited for 2:30 o'clock and 3:30 o'clock the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Meares, Roosevelt street, Midway City, complimented Mrs. Al Reboin. The hostesses were teachers and wives of teachers of the Huntington Beach High school, or which Mr. Reboin this year joins the school as assistant coach, and he and Mrs. Reboin having moved to Midway City from Santa Ana to reside as a result of his appointment to this position.

The hostess group, also of Midway City, included Mrs. Meares, Mrs. Ruth Harlow, Miss Cora R. Henderson, Mrs. Dale Braybrook, Mrs. William Frazier, and they received in formal afternoon gowns, Mrs. Meares in pink organdy, Miss Braybrook, yellow organdy, Miss Henderson and Mrs. Frazier in pink lace, Mrs. Harlow in blue lace, while the honor guest, Mrs. Reboin, was gowned in green organdy.

The hostess group was assisted in pouring tea by Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Clifford Jones, who with the honoree were presented corsage bouquets of pink rose buds by the hostesses. Tea and cookies were served from one long table with pottery in pretty colors used in serving, while flowers in corresponding hues were used on the table.

Young daughters of several of the guest group entertained, including a dialogue, "Fanny's Secret" by Pattie Peryle Meares and Elaine Harlow; vocal solo number by Virginia Wise and three readings by Barbara Banker of Orange. A guest book was signed for Mrs. Reboin.

The invited guest list who greeted Mrs. Reboin, welcoming her to

CANDIDATES IN PRIMARY FILE EXPENSE LISTS

Today, marking the close of the filing period for campaign expense accounts, found most of the candidates' statements on file, either with County Clerk J. M. Backs or Recorded J. Fred Slidbottom.

All of the successful candidates had complied with the statute, thereby protecting their status as nominees, but a few of the other candidates had not yet filed.

Those on file included: Congress — Sam L. Collins, $742.00; Ray Adkinson, $865.47; Charles McLaughlin, $115. Other congressional candidates might have filed in Riverside or San Bernardino counties. McLaughlin's campaign fund was supplied by the Communist parties of Orange and San Bernardino counties, his report showed.

State senate—Thomas L. McFadden, $655.24; Harry Westover, $233.69; Dr. C. G. Huston, $192.48; Joseph P. Smith, $200.

Assembly, 74th district—James B. Utt, $264; Clyde Watson, $139.

Assembly, 75th district—James H. Heffron, $98.95; Thomas Kuchel, $89.39.

Superior judge—G. K. Scovel, $10. Supervisor, first district—W. C. Jerome, $188; Steele Finley, $418.11; J. A. Cranston, $65.60; W. B. Martin, $284.91.

Supervisor, third district—Harry D. Riley, $239.53; Leroy Lyon, $421.18; S. James Tuffrey, $787.03; W. J. Carmichael, $315.05.

Party Arranged By Tustin Grange

TUSTIN, Sept. 10.—Tustin grange will hold a booster night party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Shostag on La Collina avenue, north of Tustin, Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Each member attending is asked to bring a partner and a couple who will be prospective members, together with one box lunch for each couple. Women members of the grange are asked to wear home-made aprons and to bring with them, neatly wrapped ties to match the aprons.

Japan is almost entirely dependent on outside sources for its coal.

filled with college boys who make a lot of noise. I think she could keep them in order."

"Of course I could!" Doris said eagerly.

"I think I'll put you in training!" the chief told her. "Take this card down to the doctor's office for a physical examination."

Doris eyed the yellow card with firm distrust. "I'll go," she said determinedly, "but if that doctor is a friend of yours, you'd better give him a ring on the telephone, and tip him off that I'm coming. If he's anything like the wise-cracking interns at that hospital I left, he'll get his stethoscope wrapped around my neck!"

Charles pressed another button. Doris Lee got up and flounced down the hall, self-sure and confident. At the same time the door from the outer office opened and the third girl came in, timidly peering about the room.

While the chief looked at her card, Ted Graham showed her a chair.

She was a meek little girl of about 19. Her features were delicately shaped and exquisite. Her forehead was high and white. She was plainly dressed, and while she waited, her fingers pulled nervously at the neat black gloves in her lap. She was obviously embarrassed.

To Ted there was a look of desperation about the girl. Her dark-and told her where to go for the physical examination.

When she had gone Benton stood up. "See what you made me do, Ted," he said. "Actually we needed only one of these girls, and now—if they all pass the medic—they'll go into training."

He rubbed his chin.

Ted Graham seemed more puzzled than the chief of personnel. "Who'd have thought, 10 years ago," he said, "that girls would be leaving their typewriters, hospitals and nurseries to take up jobs in aviation? In the old days we thought we were made of pretty, stern stuff, eh?"

"Well, so are these girls!" Benton said. "And that's progress in the air. We've gone a long way. And you have done more than any other man I know, Ted, to make flying safer!"

TED stood up, shaking off the compliments as a dog shakes off water. "The old balance from you!"

"No, I mean it. At 20 you were a daredevil pilot in the war. An ace. And what a devil-may-care flying fool you were!"

Ted squirmed uncomfortably. "Then you settled down to acquire something like 12,000 hours in the air," Charles went on. "A pioneer in long-distance flying in the tropics. Now, at 40, you're flying the Trans-Pacific Airways route, to Honolulu, Guam, Manila. Everybody knows what you've done to develop commercial aviation. And now this new gyropilot you're working on, to make trans-oceanic flying fool-proof—"

Nothing irritated Ted more than praise. He shied from it. To distract himself now, he got up and walked to the window, watching a private plane come in to make a three-point landing. It was still a thrilling sight to him.

He turned to see Kay Dunn in the doorway. Her eyes were bright, her cheeks flushed, and she waved the yellow card gaily. "It's okay!" she said. "I can go in training. The doctor said I'd make a good pilot, even. I'm so happy—and oh, I'm going to work in the air!"

She looked up and saw Ted Graham regarding her with a curious smile. Suddenly the hand she had lifted excitedly, fluttered to her side. She had talked so fast she was gasping for breath, but she laughed.

"Forgive me. I didn't mean to become so excited. But I am thrilled!"

"After the first hundred flights," Ted put in, laughing, "it's not very adventurous. Just work. And responsibility. But it's our life," he added.

"Our life!" she repeated slowly. "Then you do—you already accept me as one of you?"

"Of course," Ted said. "As a matter of fact, we were just going to lunch in the airport restaurant. Want to come along?"

Kay glanced through the glass corridors toward the glittering restaurant where passengers dined and where natty young pilots lounged about the cigar counter and the fireplace.

"Why, of course," she said. "If you're sure that I won't—"

Ted took her arm with a gesture of real camaraderie. "Come on!" he said, smiling.

Today's Guest Editorial

By

IT SEEMS TO ME

It seems to me that the American people are weary of argument on the current economic and political situation. After all, facts are evident and conditions not satisfactory. Needed liquidation was almost complete upon the close of the Hoover administration. There should have been only one way to go then and that was up. It is evident that Roosevelt in his unwillingness to cooperate with Hoover after election and before assuming office set the stage for his own triumphal entry and completed the job of "smearing Hoover" at the country's expense.

Re-employment, the chief goal, has certainly not been accomplished. The national and state debts have been enormously increased. Business has been subjected to a plague of experimentation and reform which retarded recovery and caused capital to remain idle. Agriculture has received large subsidies and assumed restrictions which will probably harm it from the "long swing" viewpoint. Many of the people have been "mollycoddled" into believing Uncle Sam to be Santa Claus, which will not be in their permanent interest. Many "crack-pot" schemes and organizations are the natural outgrowth of all this experimentation. All of this makes for lack of confidence by big business, retarding recovery and continuing unemployment.

Under Wilson the people became worn with the idealism of his international "self-determination of small nations," "The world safe for Democracy," "League of Nations," etc., and turned to keeping "cool with Coolidge." I think the American people are again weary of "New Dealism" and the class hatred that has no place in this land of opportunity, which has no equal anywhere else in the world. Why should we embrace the doctrines of other countries that have made less material progress than we? It seems to me that this desire of a breathing spell accounts for the spontaneous and almost unanimous choice of the plain man Landon by the Republicans.

It is to be hoped that after this mess is disposed of and we settle down to pay off the bill that we will all profit from the lessons taught by the boom of 1929 and the current depression. May those having the management of business regard the rights of ownership and labor in not taking those ridiculously large salaries and bonuses, which cause discontent in the minds of the mass of people. Confiscatory taxation is not necessarily a redistribution of wealth but probably the turning over of same to the political spenders to waste. Bigness is not of itself bad but rather in many industries the means of greater efficiency and resulting in lowered cost and raising standards of living. Let us forget the fallacies of technocracy and be masters of the things our intellects create so that there may be more to divide. Certainly, we want no more of "the abundance of scarcity," if that is the "More abundant life" we have been creating on borrowed capital.

FORUM SPEAKERS, PAID AND UNPAID

When a forum speaker is paid for speaking, he is selling his beliefs. He, therefore, has a personal, vital interest in trying to substantiate these beliefs. If they are not substantiated, it costs him money and future income. He is very much inclined to be in that classification of human beings who are more interested in their beliefs than they are in truth.

On the other hand, the forum speaker who is not paid for speaking has no personal interest in the matter and is only setting forth his beliefs in the real search for truth. He gains much if his opponent convinces him that his beliefs are not sound, because he is then finding the truth.

The forum speaker who speaks without financial reward invariably is more interested in truth than he is in his own beliefs.

The forum speakers at the Forum for Political and Economic Education are not paid for their forum talks. They are invariably sincere, seeking the truth and not selling their wares. The forum speakers in the Federal project are paid speakers. If their contentions are proved to be unsound, they are big losers in prestige and, therefore, in financial return.

If you are interested in seeking the truth in economic and political problems, you will be surprised and intensely interested in the discussions being held each Tuesday night at the Junior College Building on North Main street by the Forum for Economic and Political Education.

THE SURVIVAL OF THE UNFITTEST

In a very timely article in the August American Mercury, Channing Pollock discusses the survival of the unfittest. In the article he quotes Emerson as saying, "All history resolves itself very easily into the biography of a few." The author then contends that "an army which controlled the deciding voice in its own conduct wouldn't get very far. Democracy, which, as someone has said, 'counts opinions instead of weighing them', presents exactly the same situation."

He goes on and quotes a distinguished London historian and Egyptologist, W. M. Flinders Petrie, as tracing the floods and ebbs of human accomplishment to the conclusion that "When democracy has attained full power, the majority without capital necessarily eat up the capital of the minority, and the civilization steadily decays, until the inferior population is swept away to make room for a fitter people."

The author uses a very timely illustration comparing democracy with families. He says, "Almost every family consists of a breadwinner surrounded by more or less no-good relatives. No capable, industrious, thrifty, and self-respecting breadwinner has ever denied the necessity of carrying these relatives. But he would rightly regard as entirely preposterous any proposal to give them control of his home, his family, and his business. He would know, when that occurred, that his home, his business, himself, and the relatives would all be swallowed in irretrievable ruin. He would regard—and again rightly—as lunatic the suggestion that his capacity be throttled down to theirs, or that his property be confiscated and divided amongst them. He would say—rightly—'These people live by my doing my best. Some of them do their best, but nevertheless their well-being depends on mine. I'm willing to support them, but why should they decide how? What qualifications have they shown for running my business, and, if they take from me what I save when that business is prosperous, how shall I keep it, and them, and myself going when it isn't? And if all these things may happen at any moment, where am I to find the courage, and confidence, and incentive to go on everlastingly trying?'"

"Families, however, don't vote. And democracies do. Underprivileged relatives, no matter how numerous, don't have recourse to gunpowder, and discontented masses may. The multiplying majority was in a bad way by 1932. Crops had failed; they burned the tribal god, and began looking for a good medicine man. The answer was Mr. Roosevelt. If it hadn't been Roosevelt, it would have been someone else. The woods were full of Father Coughlins and Huey Long and Upton Sinclair and Dr. Townsends. And a world being remade for the proletariat gave them vastly increased potency."

The question is how long we can continue to consume, by borrowing 6 per cent of our national income that should go in capital items in order to replace the depletion and depreciation of our natural resources and our machinery and to produce food, shelter and indulgences for the natural increase in population. An article like this makes every student of history shudder as to our future.

Among The Great Destroyers

that depends on French politics, than which there is nothing less dependable.

One of the loftiest government authorities on international exchange figured and reported three months ago that the French would have to devalue within a week. He figured it out on a basis of financial arithmetic.

FAME

When a Democrat tells a story on a Republican these days there is always room for doubt. But doubt it or not, the Roosevelt inner circle is enjoying much mirth believing this one:

One of the Republican head men in the campaign organization wrote a letter to the famous publisher of a famous eastern weekly, along the following general lines: "We would like to co-operate with you in any way we could during the progress of the campaign, if you will just let us know."

The response came back promptly to this general effect: "The publisher whom you addressed has been dead for four years."

Pop was smoking to himself with a satisfied expression, and he said, "Why don't you take an example from Ed Jarvis, Willyum. He thinks nothing of wawking 5 miles every day, she said."

I think very little of it myself, pop said, and ma said, You may try to pass it off like a feather in the breeze, but look at the difference between you and Ed Jarvis. He hasn't the suggestion of a sign of an oncoming stumminck and he's as strate as a bow and arrow. I don't believe I know a single woman who hasn't spoken in undisguised admiration of Ed Jarvis's figure, she said.

Really? pop said. I admit I wouldn't object to having my figure discussed in laudatory tones by the opposite sex. I wonder if about a half a mile a day would make any radical change if done briskly? he said, and ma said, Even that would be a start, and I'm glad to see you showing even a dying spark of intrist. You don't see Ed Jarvis sprawling out in a chair as if every effort was an effort. He's rite on his toes even when he's sitting down. Just as an instance, Grace Jarvis had the bridge game at her house this afternoon, and Ed came home and Grace mentioned something about the bathroom window being stuck, and Ed was up out of his chair like a flash in the pan and down the cellar after some tools and he had that window working like rubber before we'd finished our butter, ma said.

That's enough, I'm cured, consider the subneck closed, pop said. Him hating to fix things, and ma said, Now Willyum I just used that as a casual example, it properly was an unusual occurrence and I have no doubt Grace Jarvis calls in the carpenter as often as any other woman. What we were really discussing was wawking, she said, and pop said, Let's consider the whole incident as a thing of the passed.

And he got in back of the sportspage and stayed there.

Day By Day In Washington

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1936)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Preliminary note: This is the second of a series of five dispatches in which David Lawrence outlines the conclusions he reached after visiting 13 states in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast sections. He finds them for the most part safe for Roosevelt but with a rising Landon tide that may change the result by November.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Analyzing the trends in the 13 states I have visited, I would say that the campaign done by President Roosevelt from the day he was inaugurated, his constant use of the radio and newspaper publicity, has left an impression of a man who "does things" whether those things are wise or mistaken.

The tendency to appraise carefully the record of the Roosevelt administration has appeared among only a few groups. The vast number of voters still have lingering impressions of Mr. Roosevelt gained in the last three years or more and they have only the vaguest impressions as yet about Governor Landon, what he stands for and what kind of a president he would make.

The opportunity for Mr. Roosevelt to carry these western states is related closely to the amount of federal money spent in stimulating prosperity by artificial means. The average man has as yet learned little about the false bottom of an inflationary boom, but looks retrospectively rather than prospectively. The business man who is accustomed to looking ahead expresses alarm because he does not see how constantly mounting debts can end in anything but trouble in the end unless expenses of government are cut.

As yet, the figures about the government finances and debts and budgets are a maze of numbers, difficult to understand and much more complicated than any other issue before the average man, even though the most important.

Local issues are causing a split in party lines and the third party movements are beginning to make some inroads, but the Roosevelt vote of 1932, with the exception of the defection of old-line Republicans who left Hoover on prohibition for example, or the desertion by Jeffersonian Democrats who don't like the New Deal, is a sizable bloc with which the administration starts out.

The Landon fight is plainly an uphill fight. The Kansas governor will have to take chances, fight desperately for this western country to wake it up even to listen to his point of view. Mr. Landon can win without most of these western states, but the same tactics that make it necessary for him to show more and more of his progressive side and more and more of his definitive policies would seem to be essential in the middle west and east.

Looking at each of the 13 states that I have visited and with due regard for the fact that I surveyed the situation during the summer months and not the autumn, the line-up would seem to be as follows:

Minnesota—a close state. The death of Governor Olson has broken up somewhat the Farmer-Labor party opportunity to swing Minnesota into the Roosevelt column by means of the personality of the governor. The Farmer-Laborites are strong. Representative Christianson, Republican nominee for the United States senate, appears a likely winner. Governor Landon has the edge.

North Dakota—factionalism in the Republican party and the three-cornered fight for the governorship gives Governor Landon whatever chance he has here. The Lemke-Coughlin ticket will be stronger here than in any other state. As Lemke's strength grows, so does Landon's. If the election were held today, Governor Landon would have an even chance to get the electoral vote. It is a close state.

Montana—plainly a Roosevelt state at this writing. The division in the Democratic ranks on the senatorship, growing out of primary, and the possibility of some Lemke-Coughlin and Townsend votes, may alter the result. It can be put down for Roosevelt right now.

Washington—another Roosevelt state, but with a rapidly declining majority due to the failure of the Democratic governor to maintain right to work in Seattle and the fighting of the New Deal with the forces of mob violence in Seattle. This will prove costly to the Roosevelt cause in the state of Washington, losing him many votes in the Republican sections of the state where he would otherwise have been beneficiary of the vast federal money spent. But, as between law and order and federal money, the former has the prior claim. It is the more emotional and thought-provoking. The state of Washington went by 150,000 for Roosevelt four years ago. If it goes by 50,000 this time, Mr. Roosevelt will be lucky. It is a Roosevelt state, but fast receding.

Oregon—here, too, the Roosevelt expenditures have made a deep and favorable impression, but there are no local issues such as in Washington. The west coast's industrial troubles, of course, are more or less spread throughout the whole region and there is a growing resentment against the New Deal because so many lawless elements are coming to the front and taking as their shield the "collective bargaining" expounded by the New Deal. But, while Governor Landon is gaining in Oregon, it still must be regarded as a Roosevelt state.

California—here the Roosevelt strength is so preponderant that only a miracle can change the result. That miracle might be an organized Townsend drive. At present, however, it has not materialized. California will be Democratic by at least 300,000, and I would not be surprised to see the figure as high as 600,000.

Arizona—a close state, but with the advantage to Mr. Roosevelt due to the enormous sums spent by the New Deal in this state. A

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

NOT ALL TEACHERS ARE IN SCHOOLS

Teaching is a great, a noble profession, and there are many, many people who engage in it. Some, I fear, do so with little preparation for the work, and little understanding of the responsibility they are undertaking. To be a teacher requires a willingness to learn. Most of the teaching is done in association with children, and teachers must be on the alert to catch the slightest degree of difference and meet it in the instruction. A teacher who is a teacher never ceases to learn, never ceases to be eager to learn. The bumptious person who knows everything, whose dignity is offended by a child's question, is no teacher by virtue of his ignorance of his profession.

Not all teachers are employed in schools. Only a small part of the teaching force of a people is trained and works in educational systems. Most of the teaching is done by people who live in homes, shops and farms. Fathers and mothers are the first and most influential teachers children know. Then come relatives and friends and neighbors. After them come the teachers in the schools. School education is only one kind of education, the others are based on experiences in life, and are derived from influential teachers many of whom are unconscious of their mission.

This is particularly true of mothers. I have heard so many mothers say, "Of course he doesn't get to school he will learn them." The things that are meant are character traits that have been set in the children by heredity and training before ever they reach school. They have been taught by the mother herself, and they will remain in force, fading only after stubborn resistance and much experience in opposition to them. Self-training is what will correct the mistakes of early experience, and that is a long and difficult process.

School teachers are usually anxious to learn about their work from anyone who has something to teach. Classroom experience soon shows them the need for all the information, all the practical suggestions that they can gather. Each day presents a new problem to the teacher, and the richer his store of knowledge the better able he is to meet the need. Most teachers know this and act on it.

Mothers have not the opportunities teachers have, but these are increasing. Mothers' clubs are a great help. By joining one and attending the meetings the help becomes more effective and its quality improves. Each member adds to a club adds to its strength. It is a great mistake for a mother to say, "O, I can't see what good going there would do me. I know all those mothers, and they don't know any more than I do." When two or three gather together there is strength, the strength that a combined power always brings. One member stimulates another, and new ideas are born. Don't discredit your own prophet, but be one in your turn.

There are good books for parents to read. Magazines edited for their interests. Lectures and meetings for their instruction. A good teacher is always eager to learn, and parents are teachers of great influence.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply. (Copyright, 1936, The Bell Syn. Inc.)

G.O.P. strategy: "You needn't approve Landon; just vote against Roosevelt."

Farley isn't pretending. He really believes that nobody in a little hick town like Topeka can understand national problems.

You can recognize Americans anywhere. They aren't having a good time unless they are spending money.

Landon's wisdom becomes more apparent daily. He keeps on saying nothing that anybody could get sore about.

Racketeering is easy. Just find people who value their property more than their self-respect and growl at them.

SMALL FAMILIES HAVE ONE ADVANTAGE. WHEN ONE ANSWERS THE PHONE, THERE IS LESS CHANCE THAT HE ISN'T THE PERSON WANTED.

War has one good point. For a little while it makes people love something else more than a dollar.

But if a prairie state governor can't know international affairs, does that mean nobody far inland is smart like a New Yorker?

Hint to Landon: When you visit a place to get votes, why don't you also say you are there merely to study its problems?

AMERICANISM: Hating nations that disregard the rights of others; keeping a barking dog to annoy your neighbors.

Conservative: Anybody who hates to part with an idea after he gets used to it.

Progress is the slow business of burying those who can't change their minds.

No matter what the new ism is called, when you boil it down it means: "Let me boss."

EVEN STUPIDITY HAS VALUE. IT ENABLES PEOPLE TO RULE BECAUSE THEY ARE DUMB ENOUGH TO THINK THEMSELVES SUPERIOR.

The jury considers only the law and the evidence, but the latter includes the shape of the defendant's legs.

Those who have a scandal in the family are lucky in one way. They are the only ones who don't hear about it.

The automatic gear shift is all right, but we need an automatic foot shift from the accelerator to the brake.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I HAD A BAD COLD." SAID THE RELATIVE, "SO I WOULDN'T GO NEAR THE BABY."

third party may yet carry the state into the Landon column, but the chances, so far as can be seen now, are against such a development. It also can be put down for Mr. Roosevelt.

New Mexico—a Roosevelt state for much the same reasons as Arizona. The federal and state political machines have been effective for the New Deal here. It's another Roosevelt state.

Colorado—very friendly to Governor Landon. If the election were held today, he would carry it. Dissatisfaction among the farmers and the split inside the Democratic party between radicals and conservatives is aiding the Republican cause. It might be put down for Governor Landon now.

Utah—a Roosevelt state. It is predominantly New Deal because it has been well organized and plenty of federal money has been spent here. Put down for Mr. Roosevelt.

Nevada—a close state, with Landon's chances rather better than they were a few weeks ago, but not yet good enough to warrant a belief that it will go Republican. The president will carry it by about 5,000, which is a greatly reduced majority from 1932.

Idaho—Senator Borah won easily his primary battle and secured more votes than all his Democratic opponents. The Republicans are hopeful. If Mr. Borah came out for Governor Landon, or rather if he could find a basis for a convincing campaign that was affirmatively pro-Landon as much as it might be negatively anti-Roosevelt, the Republican party would win the electoral vote of Idaho. As matters stand now, the president has the edge here.

Wyoming—much improvement in Landon's chances has been apparent lately. Mr. Roosevelt has been slipping. Senator Carey's victory in the primary showed that the Republican voters are in the majority. It may be put down as a Landon state.

Out of this group of states, which have 79 electoral votes, the lineup would appear to be 59 for Landon and 20 for Roosevelt. Giving the "breaks," so to speak, to Governor Landon and a whirlwind to his campaign, there is a possibility of 16 more, making a total of 36 for Landon and 43 for Roosevelt, but I do not look for any better result for the Republican nominee.

Mr. Landon could be elected if he carried the east and middle west and only 29 or 25 votes in the far west and Rocky Mountain regions. Hence, it is important to turn one's investigation toward the middle west and east, where I plan to spend the next few weeks.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
25 Years Ago Today

SEPTEMBER 10, 1911

Tonight at First Congregational church, the Rev. Charles H. Secomb, pastor, will begin a series of Sunday night lecture-sermons descriptive of his vacation experiences with the general theme of "Mountain Sketches." Three themes announced are: "The Trail: Life's Companionship," and "The Hunt: Life's Quest."

Miss Nannie Tedford, who has been enjoying a short vacation visit in her Santa Ana home, was soloist at this morning's services in First Presbyterian church.

Announcement has been made that the annual Orange County Sunday School convention is to be held in Santa Ana, October 25 and 26, and the annual Southern California S. S. convention is to be held November 7 to 9 in Los Angeles.

Anahelm Concordia club and its Turnverein association will erect a fine new building in that city, with work to begin at an early date, according to decision announced after the monthly business meeting at which plans were approved by the directors.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

CROWDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Expert and inept political talk is now churning around the ovens being received by the various candidates.

The great crowd demonstrations being staged for Father Coughlin, Townsend and Lemke are the chief point of discussion. Some authorities are concluding that the terrific trio will weigh far more than originally estimated.

Ominous comparisons likewise are being made between the receptions for President Roosevelt and Governor Landon along the way-stations of their travels.

Only amateurs are deeply impressed by such signs. The pros have an established theory that both crowds and applause can be misleading.

CURIOSITY

The most notable crowd mistake was that of Al Smith. He drew far larger and more enthusiastic throngs than his political opponent, but Hoover won. More persons cheered Al in Philadelphia and Boston, for example, than voted for him there.

In 1932, Mr. Roosevelt outdrew Hoover mightily at the gate, but again Hoover received more enthusiastic demonstrations at the speaker's rostrum than at the ballot box.

Crowds and enthusiasm are analyzed by the experienced as partly a matter of efficient advance organization and partly a matter of human curiosity.

IN WANT

The news that the Federal Reserve banks had rallied to make their 6 per cent earnings was given out as casually as if Chairman Eccles had dropped a small piece of change. It was inserted as a routine statement in the monthly bulletin of the board, sans handout, sans explanation.

What it meant was that the system is no longer self-supporting. It cannot earn its keep. And there is no prospect that it will anytime soon. It must support itself largely from interest on government bonds, and, until present rates are increased, it will fail to produce its 6 per cent carrying charges.

This means it will probably have to go to congress for an appropriation and that, in turn, means the legislators may be paying that well known banking authority, Father Coughlin.

is a discouraging predicament, but likely to be more annoying than fatal.

GUESSING

Bond market barbers have an expert notion that Mr. Morgenthau could have shaved the interest rate on his latest issue another quarter per cent. The oversubscription was so heavy that average allotments were supposed to run less than 8 per cent.

The fixing of the interest rate is always a matter of guesswork. Mr. Morgenthau did not want to underestimate his guess in a campaign year.
